JAPAN TO SEND GREATER FORCE TO PEIPING AREA

Home Army To Be Used As Crisis Becomes Grave Between Nations

MILLIONS IN RESERVE

Warships Begin To Arrive In Chinese Waters

TOKYO—Units of Japanese Imperial army ordered to China. Three million military reservists instructed to be ready for call to duty. Provincial governors throughout Japanese empire summoned into conference.

SHANGHAI—Communist leaders ask Chang Kai-Shek to lead their army into battle against Japanese.

PEIPING—Japanese charge Chinese fired on a Japanese patrol 10 miles from Peiping, killing a courier.

TOKYO, July 15.—(UP)—The war office announced today that it had decided to send troops from Japan to reinforce its army in China. This news, emphasizing the extreme gravity with which the Peiping crisis is regarded, came soon after an order to 3,000,000 army reservists to be ready for a call to duty.

It followed also a meeting of provincial governors with the cabinet at which Vice Admiral Mitsumasa Yonai, navy minister, announced that warships were being sent to the China coast.

Japan already is pouring thousands on thousands of troops into China.

VINCENT ORDERS SLOT MACHINES OUT OF COUNTY

CHILLICOTHE, July 15.—(UP)—Sheriff Joe Vincent today placed a ban on slot machines in Ross county. His action was announced by Judge Harrison W. Jewell of Delaware, sitting here by assignment, took under advisement evidence submitted in the impeachment trial of Mayor James E. Ford, 71.

For the next four weeks, Cadet Towers, and his classmates will receive an intensive course of instruction in military subjects designed to fit them for formal entrance into the corps of cadets.

On July 31, the class will be absorbed into the corps and will participate with the upper classes in routine activities, including the impressive parades for which the Military Academy is so famous.

During the month of July, the entire corps will be encamped in the tent camp in Fort Clinton.

The last week in August will again be devoted to dismounted practice march through the mountains southwest of West Point. New cadets will be required to live in shelter tents during this period, and will receive their initiation to meals served from the Army rolling kitchen.

September 1 will see the entire corps commencing its academic work for the year, having moved into barracks on returning from the practice march. Classroom work will extend from 8 a. m. to 3 p. m., with an hour's intermission for lunch. Drills and compulsory intramural athletics will take up another hour in the afternoon.

The new class will be divided into sections of from 10 to 14 men for the academic work in conformity to the Military Academy system of instruction, and each will be required to recite in each subject every day.

MANY EDUCATORS TAKE ADVANCE WORK AT O.S.U.

Many Circleville and Pickaway county educators are taking advance courses in education at Ohio State university's Summer school. The enrollment in the school is more than 4,800, 400 higher than the previous figure.

ROUTE 23 ROAD JOB TO BE LET BY OHIO OFFICE

Chillicothe Highway To Be Repaved For Four Miles In Ross County

Roads in Ross, Fairfield and Fayette counties are among those in 12 counties included in contracts to be let by the state highway department, July 27 and 30. The projects include 47 miles at an estimated cost of $1,111,365.

Two Ross county projects are to be let July 27. One is on Route 23, between Circleville and Chillicothe, in Springfield and Green townships. It includes grading, draining, surfacing 4.044 miles with brick and constructing a beam bridge over Dry Run. The estimated cost is $254,426.

The second project is the Chillicothe-Mt. Sterling road in Deerfield and Union townships and the village of Clarksburg, including resurfacing 11.259 miles, at an estimated cost of $37,510.

The July 30 lettings include the county and township highway, No. 379, in Rushcreek and Richland townships, Fairfield county. The project includes, grading, draining and surfacing 2.356 miles at an estimated cost of $24,690.

Fayette county's project is on the Springfield-Washington C. H. road, state route 70, in Union township. It consists of grading, draining, widening and resurfacing 1.719 miles at an estimated cost of $28,782.

A system of planned publicity for the Junior Fair of the Pumpkin Show was outlined in a meeting of the fair board, Wednesday evening, in the county school of offices.

Articles prepared by the junior heads of each department of the fair will be edited by senior members of the board. The series of papers starting about the second week in August. An article will be written each week until the Pumpkin Show.

Jailed as Slayer

UNDER indictment with four others in East St. Louis, Ill., in connection with the accidental shooting of Walter Welch last October, Anna (Babe) Miller, 20, was taken into custody in Detroit. Seized along with Miss Miller was Arthur Thompson, 28, also accused of complicity in the shooting.

The next meeting of the board has been set for Aug. 18.

TOLEDO CHURCH DAMAGE $75,000 IN 3-ALARM FIRE

TOLEDO, July 15.—(UP)—The First Westminster Presbyterian church here was destroyed by a three-alarm fire that caused $75,000 loss today.

The church's interior was burned out. The rear wall collapsed. Only a tower built separately from the church escaped damage. The tower contained books valued by Dr. Elwood A. Rowsey, the pastor, at $5,000.

Capt. Fred Wechsel and Lieut. Wynn Meyers, on duty in the police and fire alarm building, across from the church, discovered the fire.

Earl D. Walterscheid, chief inspector for the fire prevention bureau, was investigating the cause of the fire.

WEILL ASKS POSSESSION OF LAND, $100 DAMAGES

Suit for possession of a strip of real estate three by 59 feet and $100 damages was filed in common pleas court Wednesday by Harry E. Weill, E. High street, against Stanley and Hazel Peters, W. Water street.

RACES CALLED OFF AS FRENCHMEN RUIN TRACK

MARSEILLES, France, July 15.—(UP)—The horse racing meet was cancelled today because the course had been wrecked by angry bettors.

In the third race yesterday, at the Pont De Vivaux course, one side of the starting gate slid up before the other and the outsider Pastorelle was away far ahead of the field. Pastorelle won.

When the judges, despite protests ruled that Pastorelle's victory was a proper one, bettors set fire to hedges and stands, smashed betting booths and made a wreck generally of the course. Several police and others were bruised in fighting. Officials said it would take many weeks to make the course ready for use.

INDIANA BLAST FATAL TO FOUR; 70 MEN TRAPPED

Mine Damp Explodes in Deep Pit; 10 of Rescued May Lose Lives

SULLIVAN, Ind., July 15.—(UP)—An explosion of "mine damp" shot searing fingers of flame through the Baker soft coal mine today, killing at least four miners and trapping approximately 70 others. Twelve were rescued but 10 of them were burned severely.

Rescue crews equipped with gas masks plunged into the smoking shaft to tour the miles of corridors in the search for the remaining miners.

Thousands of Sullivan county men, women and children milled about the mine's entry.

Wilson, state mines director, his assistant, Henry Walcott, directed rescue crews from a point in the rich southern coal fields, who came here to aid. Four of the 12 taken from the shaft were expected to die, Sullivan hospital attendants said.

They were Curt Miller, Allen Sawyer, Jess Pickett and Harry Cuts.

CORONER'S JURY PROBING SOUTH CHICAGO BATTLE

CHICAGO, July 15.—(UP)—The Cook county's coroner's jury faced conflicting testimony today as it resumed its inquest to determine responsibility for the Memorial Day riot between police and strikers and strike sympathizers at the Republic Steel Corporation's South Chicago plant.

Ten persons were injured fatally in the riot. Coroner Frank J. Walsh has summoned more than 100 witnesses in his attempt to determine whether first shots were fired by police or by members of the group which advanced on police lines.

PITTSFIELD, Ill., July 15.—(UP)—Bloodstained clothing found in the home of Rev. C. E. Newton, Baptist minister of Paris, Mo., was held for analysis by chemists of Northwestern university in Evanston, Ill., today in an effort to trace the slayer of Mrs. Dennis Kelly, 45, one of his congregation.

Rev. Newton was brought here from Paris to prevent possible mob violence, after first degree murder charges were filed against him.

8,000 VEHICLES IDLE FOLLOWING PAY BOOST PLEA

Michigan Area Without Any Service After Walk-out Throughout State

ALL SHIPMENTS HALTED

Detroit Drivers Told to Haul Perishables Only

DETROIT, July 15.—(UP)—Intra-state trucking was at a virtual standstill in Michigan today as nearly 50,000 drivers and helpers abandoned 8,000 vehicles in terminals in a strike for higher wages.

The strike called at midnight by the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, Chauffeurs, Stablemen and Helpers after negotiations for increased pay collapsed, spread rapidly to all parts of the state. All shipments, except those of gasoline and perishables, were halted.

Port Huron Tied Up

Port Huron, feeder point for the Michigan "thumb" area was reported "completely tied up." In Lansing, the state capital, operators said transportation was "nearly at a standstill," and in the Saginaw valley five intra-state trucking firms announced they were neither accepting nor moving freight.

The strike became effective in Detroit more slowly, because drivers were permitted to complete their runs before joining the strike. Many Detroit trucking firms have contracts with the union — an American Federation of Labor affiliate — and the union reported it had "no quarrel" with them. Union officials advised Detroit operators, however, not to ship anything but perishables.

ACTRESS CLAIMS $500,000 RESULT OF 'MOW' PARTY

LOS ANGELES, July 15.—(UP)—David Ross of Chicago, no-billed by a Los Angeles county grand jury on charges he attacked Patricia Douglas, plump, 20-year-old film extra at a "haymow" party, today was named defendant in a $500,000 damage suit brought by the actress against a group of prominent film executives.

Miss Douglas named Ross, film sales executive. Hal E. Roach, at whose studio ranch the party was held; Edward J. Mannex, manager which entertained its salesmen at the affair; Vincent Coniff, Roach's casting director, and 50 "John Doe" defendants.

The grand jury held evidence was insufficient to prove Miss Douglas's story that she was attacked by Ross after he assertedly forced her to take a drink of whiskey.

Ex-Minister Guarded From Angry Mob After Arrest as Woman's Murderer

PARIS, Mo., July 15.—(UP)—Sheriff Russell Wilkes announced today that $1,950 in bills, or $20 less than the amount carried by Mrs. Dennis Kelly before she was slain, was found in the home of Rev. C. E. Newton, former Baptist pastor.

PITTSFIELD, Ill., July 15.—(UP)—Bloodstained clothing found in the home of Rev. C. E. Newton, Baptist minister of Paris, Mo., was held for analysis by chemists of Northwestern university in Evanston, Ill., today in an effort to trace the slayer of Mrs. Dennis Kelly, 45, one of his congregation.

Rev. Newton was brought here from Paris to prevent possible mob violence, after first degree murder charges were filed against him.

Tense feeling was evident following discovery of stains on freshly laundered shirt and trousers and on strands of hair under the floor mat of his automobile.

LEGISLATOR FILES SUIT TO STOP FALSE NAMES

BOSTON, July 15.—(UP)—Myrna Loy, Claudette Colbert, W. C. Fields were named today by State Rep. Francis Xavier Coyne as among screen stars who "fool the public by using false names."

Coyne, a Boston Democrat, has filed a bill to compel all "public performers"—stage and screen actors, boxers and wrestlers—to use their "right names" or be barred from Massachusetts appearances.

Right names of the three stars named, he said, are:

Myrna Loy — Myrna Williams Hornblow.
Claudette Colbert — Lily Chucheln.
W. C. Fields — William Claude Dunkinfield.

In criticism of Hollywood's performers, Coyne said: "About 90 percent of the so-called stars are, in fact, amateurs. Through high-powered exploitation, they have been up to artificial heights and a glib public has been forced to swallow them."

Scioto May Not Flood Lowland

SOVIET PLEASED, FREES CONVICTS BUILDING CANAL

MOSCOW, July 15.—(UP)—Overjoyed at completion of the Moscow-Volga canal before the time set, the government today granted amnesty to 55,000 convicts who worked on it, and ordered the Trade Union Council to find them jobs as soon as possible, the official Tass news agency announced today.

On their release the men will be given passage money to their new homes and special money prizes. As special recognition for convicts who did particularly good work, the government ordered that their criminal records be destroyed. Money prizes, special badges and other decorations were voted for other workers on the project.

LANE BOY'S NOSE INJURED BY COW AT STOCK SALE

Lawrence Lane, 21, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lane, Half avenue, was treated by Dr. H. D. Jackson, Wednesday, for a nose injury received when he was hooked by a cow at the Circleville live stock yards.

Lane said the cow's horn just missed his left eye. He said he was tagging a calf in a truck when the cow hooked him.

Lane recently recovered from a fractured right wrist suffered at the stock yards when he was accidentally struck by a cane.

Ex-Governor Guilty

GUilty of defrauding through the mails, C. J. Morley, former Colorado governor, was sentenced to serve five years in federal prison. In passing the sentence at Indianapolis, Federal Judge Robert C. Baltzell charged Morley permitted his name to be used in "bucket shop" manipulations through which citizens of Indiana, Ohio and Illinois lost thousands of dollars.

JUDICIARY ACT'S FOES SCHEDULE TEST OF POWER

Stampede To End Session Follows Robinson Death; 'Truce' Arranged

F. D. CONTINUES FIGHT

State Funeral For Speaker to Be Held on Friday

WASHINGTON, July 15.—(UP)—Administration leaders rallied congressional forces today to stand ready to carry on the legislative program that death lifted from the shoulders of Majority Leader Joseph T. Robinson.

Behind the scenes of a five-day armistice declared on the death of the senate leader, both supporters and foes of President Roosevelt's judiciary re-organization program prepared for an early test of strength that may be the key to the entire administration program.

Democratic veterans in the senate expected — pending further word from the White House — to renew next Thursday the fight to enact the court bill and to prevent a threatened stampede toward adjournment that might wipe out proposed labor, farm and other legislation.

"Fight Still On" "The fight is still on," was the challenge of Democratic senators after preliminary conferences with the president.

It was learned, however, that an opposition re-check of strength was started in order to determine positively whether there were sufficient votes to pass a motion to recommitt the bill to the judiciary committee. The outcome will guide a final decision whether to force the test of strength next week.

Final decisions on all legislative matters were delayed until after the services for Robinson, which will include a state funeral in the senate chamber on Friday, attended by the president, and a second service at Little Rock, Ark., which will be attended by Vice-President John N. Garner and a huge congressional delegation.

President Roosevelt was expected to confer with congressional leaders in reaching the decisions, but all indications from the White House were that there would be in.

OUSTED TEACHER EMPLOYS F. D.'S INCREASE IDEAS

SAUGUS, Mass., July 15.—(UP)—Isabelle Hallin, ousted high school English teacher, borrowed a page from President Roosevelt's supreme court program today in a new effort to regain her $1300-a-year job.

Counsel for the 25-year-old blonde proposed that either the three school committeemen who opposed her reappointment for a third time resign, or the committee's membership be increased from five to its statutory limit of nine.

The counsel, Daniel J. Canning, began circulating a petition for a special town meeting at which the town could approve his proposal and present the plan to the legislature for final sanction.

"I am certain I could obtain a square deal for Miss Hallin with nine members on the board," he said. "Something must be done to assure her of justice."

GUilty of defrauding through the mails, C. J. Morley, former Colorado governor, was sentenced to serve five years in federal prison. In passing the sentence at Indianapolis, Federal Judge Robert C. Baltzell charged Morley permitted his name to be used in "bucket shop" manipulations through which citizens of Indiana, Ohio and Illinois lost thousands of dollars.

Stampede To End Session Follows Robinson Death; 'Truce' Arranged

F. D. CONTINUES FIGHT

State Funeral For Speaker to Be Held on Friday

WASHINGTON, July 15.—(UP)—Administration leaders rallied congressional forces today to stand ready to carry on the legislative program that death lifted from the shoulders of Majority Leader Joseph T. Robinson.

Behind the scenes of a five-day armistice declared on the death of the senate leader, both supporters and foes of President Roosevelt's judiciary re-organization program prepared for an early test of strength that may be the key to the entire administration program.

Democratic veterans in the senate expected—pending further word from the White House—to renew next Thursday the fight to enact the court bill and to prevent a threatened stampede toward adjournment that might wipe out proposed labor, farm and other legislation.

"Fight Still On" was the challenge of Democratic senators after preliminary conferences with the president.

It was learned, however, that an opposition re-check of strength was started in order to determine positively whether there were sufficient votes to pass a motion to recommit the bill to the judiciary committee. The outcome will guide a final decision whether to force the test of strength next week. Some opponents claimed as high as 50 ballots for the motion. Supporters of the bill predicted defeat of the proposed motion.

Final decisions on all legislative matters were delayed until after the services for Robinson, which will include a state funeral in the senate chamber on Friday, attended by the president, and a second service at Little Rock, Ark., which will be attended by Vice-President John N. Garner and a huge congressional delegation.

President Roosevelt was expected to confer with congressional leaders in reaching the decisions, but all indications from the White House were that there would be in (Continued on Page Fourteen)

OUSTED TEACHER EMPLOYS F. D.'S INCREASE IDEAS

SAUGUS, Mass., July 15.—(UP)—Isabelle Hallin, ousted high school English teacher, borrowed a page from President Roosevelt's supreme court program today in a new effort to regain her $1300-a-year job.

Counsel for the 25-year-old blonde proposed that either the three school committeemen who opposed her reappointment for a third time resign, or the committee's membership be increased from five to its statutory limit of nine.

The counsel, Daniel J. Canning, began circulating a petition for a special town meeting at which the town could approve his proposal and present the plan to the legislature for final sanction. "I am certain I could obtain a square deal for Miss Hallin with nine members on the board," he said. "Something must be done to assure her of justice."

W.P.A. PAYROLL REDUCED BY SEVEN IN LAST WEEK

Seven workers dropped from W.P.A. employment in the last week, an employment report completed Thursday reveals.

During the last week 181 persons including 150 men and 31 women were employed on 13 projects now in operation. The previous week's report showed 188 employed.

SOVIET PLEASED, FREES CONVICTS BUILDING CANAL

MOSCOW, July 15.—(UP)—Overjoyed at completion of the Moscow-Volga canal before the time set, the government today granted amnesty to 55,000 convicts who worked on it, and ordered the Trade Union Council to find them jobs as soon as possible, the official Tass news agency announced today.

On their release the men will be given passage money to their new homes and special money prizes. As special recognition for convicts who did particularly good work, the government ordered that their criminal records be destroyed.

Money prizes, special badges and other decorations were voted for other workers on the project.

LANE BOY'S NOSE INJURED BY COW AT STOCK SALE

Lawrence Lane, 21, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lane, Half avenue, was treated by Dr. H. D. Jackson, Wednesday, for a nose injury received when he was hooked by a cow at the Circleville live stock yards.

Lane said the cow's horn just missed his left eye. He said he was tagging a calf in a truck when the cow hooked him.

Lane recently recovered from a fractured right wrist suffered at the stock yards when he was accidentally struck by a cane.

River at 8.6 Foot Stage; 10 Feet Necessary To Overflow Banks

The Scioto river was 8.6 feet at the W. Main street bridge, Thursday.

Dr. H. R. Clarke, weatherman, said the stream appeared at its peak and there was little danger of another flood in the lowlands. A 10-foot stage is necessary to flood the bottom lands, Dr. Clarke said.

Thursday's river reading was two and a half feet above the recording Wednesday morning. Heavy rains north of Circleville earlier in the week boosted the stream.

Wednesday's highest temperature in Circleville was 80 degrees. During the night the temperature dropped only three degrees.

Ashville reported a heavy downpour Wednesday afternoon.

At 1 p. m. the temperature was 86 degrees in Circleville and there was a possibility it would reach the 90-degree mark during the afternoon. A breeze made the heat less noticeable.

Although the heat and rains are beneficial to the corn crop, farmers hope the rains hold off long enough for them to complete their harvests.

MISS LOUNSBURY IS DEAD AT 68; RITES SATURDAY

Miss Jennie Elizabeth Lounsbury, 68, Park place, died in Berger hospital at 9:40 p. m. Wednesday of complications. She underwent an operation last week.

Miss Lounsbury was born Dec. 28, 1868 in Circleville, the daughter of George D. and Amelia A. Hendrie Lounsbury. One sister, Miss Gussie Lounsbury, Relands, Cal., survives.

For the last 11 years Miss Lounsbury has resided with the family of Samuel Ward. She was a member of the Evangelical church.

Funeral services will be held Saturday in the Evangelical church at 4 p. m. with the Rev. S. S. Davis officiating. Burial will be in Forest cemetery in charge of the W. H. Albaugh Co.

The body will be taken to the church Saturday noon.

NAVY CONTINUES ITS SEARCH FOR LOST AVIATORS

Chances For Rescue of Miss Earhart and Noonan
"One In Million"

HUGE AREA IS SCoured
60 Planes Expected in Air For Today's Hunt

HONOLULU, July 13—(UP)—The navy continued its search today for Miss Amelia Earhart and Frederick J. Noonan, her navigator, who have been missing since July 2, when they failed to reach Howland island on their 2,500 all water flight from Lae, New Guinea.

Chances of finding the fliers alive were placed at one in a million by the aviators of the carrier Lexington, but there was no reported change in the navy's plans for the mop up search of the ocean near Howland island and 600 miles westward to the Gilbert islands.

Miss Earhart, her fuel exhausted, is believed to have landed near Howland island but the search to the West will be made on the theory that her big Lockheed-Electra plane may still be aloft, drifting with the current. Most of the area immediately around Howland island already has been canvassed both by boats and planes.

Weather conditions were reported improving and it was likely that 60 planes, each carrying from four to six men, would be utilized in today's search. Only 40 planes were sent out yesterday.

BRITISH BOMBERS INCREASE RANGE TO 1,850 MILES

LONDON (UP)—The British Air Ministry has just given away one of the most closely guarded secrets of the Royal Air Force, expansion—the performance details of the highest night raider, the Harrow bomber, which is being mass-produced to do 200 m. p. h. with war load and to cruise at 163 m. p. h.

The bomber could fly to Brussels in one hour and 10 minutes, Paris in one hour and 15 minutes, Amsterdam in one hour and 30 minutes, Berlin in three hours and 40 minutes, Copenhagen in three hours and 50 minutes, Prague in four hours, Vienna in four hours and 45 minutes, and Madrid in five hours.

Range of the Harrow with normal bomb load is 1,250 miles, which can be increased to 1,850 miles. It could make non-stop return flights to 13 countries. The range of most British bombers now in service is 500 to 800 miles. They could not go past the Rhine without refueling on their way home.

BOY FIGHTS OFF CROCODILE
PETERSBURG, (UP)—Caught by a crocodile while he was herding cattle on the bank of the Njellele River in the Transvaal, a little native boy fought desperately for his life and won. By digging his fingers into the crocodile's nostrils, he forced the monster to let him go after mutilating one of his legs.

ROSS COUNTY'S GAME OFFICER FIGHTS OUSTER

CHILLICOTHE, July 13—The state civil service commission will conduct a hearing here on July 27 in the appeal of William A. Francis, Kingston, who has been dismissed by L. A. Wooddell, conservation commissioner, as Ross county's game officer.

In the dismissal order, effective July 15, Wooddell charged Francis with misconduct, making a false report of his activities and of conduct unbecoming an officer in an action against Fred L. Rink.

Francis has been game protector since 1918. Records show he had recently been suspended for 10 days.

FRIDAY

Alice Marble. "Tennis." 10 a. m. EST, CBS. Magazine of the Air guest. "Quincy Adams Sawyer." 2 p. m. EST, NBC. Radio Guild dramatization.

IDEAS FOR PARTY

Although the Sunday Night Party is broadcast from Radio City, New York, more than half the creative and preparatory work is done in other states and away from Metropolitan centers.

James Melton, singing star and master of ceremonies of the broadcast over the NBC red network at 9 p. m. (EST), since the beginning of the Summer has lived on a farm at Westport, Conn., where he selects and rehearses his songs each week with piano accompaniment. He arrives in New York during the week-end for studio rehearsals.

Robert Emmet Dolan, the conductor, lives in Greenwich, Conn., a few blocks from the program director. At night, they confer on musical numbers for the broadcast and there is no orchestra rehearsal until Saturday.

Dolan's arrangers live in New Hope, Pa. and on Long Island. Their work is done at home. Before writing arrangements, they confer with Dolan by telephone, later meeting him for more detailed discussions.

CARE FOR "FIRST LADY"

NBC employees exert a little extra effort to make the studio comfortable for Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt when her weekly broadcast originates in New York. Recently, property men set up a table in the center of the studio, on one side a deep-cushioned leather chair and a silver water pitcher.

Across the table was a straight-backed chair for her guest, a 17-year-old high school girl. When Mrs. Roosevelt arrived, she took the metal chair, steered the high school girl to the more comfortable chair.

SONGS HEARD EARLY

Because Bing Crosby was going on vacation early in July, the hit tunes from his new picture "Double or Nothing", were introduced more than a month ahead of time. Songs from Crosby pictures usually are heard first from the Kraft Music Hall, Crosby doing the vocals. The picture will not be released until Aug. 26, six weeks after introduction of the hit tunes.

RUSSIAN ARMEN PREPARING FOR BANQUETS, TOUR

Soviet Aces Declare They Flew 50 Miles Into Mexico

FOG DELAYED LANDING

Series of Civic Gatherings
To Be Furnished

SAN DIEGO, Calif., July 15—(UP)—The three Russian airmen who flew over the top of the world to establish a new non-stop distance record and demonstrate the feasibility of the Polar aerial route, rested here today preparatory to a round of civic receptions and inspections of aircraft factories.

The trio—Michael Gromov, Andrei Yumashev and Sergei Danilin—flew more than 7,000 miles along a route that carried them from Moscow over the pole and then south over the Arctic wastes across Canada and down the Pacific coast into Mexico. Their actual mileage, however, will not be known until the three sealed barographs they carried are checked by the National Aeronautical Association.

Codros-Rossi Mark Broken

The fact that the fliers crossed the Mexican-United States border and circled as far south as Agua Caliente was reported by S. Shumovsky, Soviet aviation representative from Washington. He said that when the entire mileage was calculated it would be near 7,000 miles, or 1,343 miles farther than Paul Codros and Maurice Rossi flew when they established the old record in 1933.

When the fliers came down in a plowed field near San Jacinto, 62 hours and 25 minutes after their take-off, they were 6,262 miles, on a direct line, from Moscow, which also exceeded the Codros-Rossi record.

The Soviet fliers, whose great feat of navigation and piloting pegged the prestige of Russian aviation higher than ever before, were brought here last night from March field, where they got a much needed five hours sleep.

In the field near San Jacinto was their red-winged ant-25 type plane, staked down to prevent damage by wind and guarded by U. S. soldiers to check souvenir hunters from stripping it. The only damage suffered in landing was a cracked fuel line. The powerful single motor, which never missed a beat in the long hours it carried the intrepid trio through storm, ice, wind and fog, was not even oil stained.

The plane later will be moved to March field, crated and shipped back to Russia.

Gromov and his companions, who neither speak nor understand English, revealed to their countryman, Shumovsky, that in their wanderings yesterday, as they sought a hole in the fog that blanketed this area, they actually crossed the Mexican border and flew south about 50 miles before turning back.

Plane Put Down

Unable to locate San Diego's port they tried for March field, but with their gas running low Gromov took the first opportunity to land, and when a hole opened in the fog he set the big plane down 20 miles from the army field.

That they might make their wants known the three carried cards on which were written in English the words "bath," "eat" and "sleep." It was reminiscent of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh's flight to Paris, on which he carried letters of introduction to the American ambassador.

The fliers, who beat the elements although at times they flew so high they used their oxygen tanks to breathe, said the most anxious moments of the flight were the take-off and the first storm they encountered an hour and a half later.

Because of the six tons of fuel they carried the plane was hard to manage as it roared down the Moscow field, Gromov said. Once in the air, however, it never faltered. The first storm—a cyclone, Gromov called it—forced the fliers to deviate from their course. Later they encountered fog near the

OHIOAN'S 'GOLD MINE' FAILS TO ROUSE INTEREST

CINCINNATI, July 15 — (UP)—The gold rush is on again along Cincinnati's "gold coast" but the latest strike is provoking little excitement.

Philip Hixson, 34, proprietor of a soft drink stand, struck the new "lode" while digging a drive for his partly completed home in a subdivision.

Hixson said he had the word of a bank clerk, a high school teacher and a jeweler that his gold is the real thing and not iron pyrites, as was the case in previous "discoveries."

Hixson is considering abandoning his soft drink business and devoting himself exclusively to gold mining if everything goes well.

USE OF CAMERA PLANNED TO FIX VALUE OF LAND

TOLEDO, July 15 — (UP)—A gigantic photographic project will get under way in Lucas county soon when eight crews of photographers set out to take 90,000 pictures in a new method of reappraisal of property. The pictures, for the sake of convenience will be of the "candid" camera size.

WPA photographers will "snap" every building in the county, while clerks will file pictures and negatives for use of the assessment office.

Hereafter when complaints are made about assessments, the picture of the property in question will be brought out, enlarged and studied.

Pole, and in the Canadian Rockies they ran into a raging wind storm that forced them to go westward toward the coast before they could resume their southward flight.

Danilin, whose navigation kept Gromov and Co-Pilot Yumashev, a handsome young blonde, on their course, said the fog over San Diego worried him.

"I was afraid that after gaining a record we might crash," he said. "But other than that we never had a worry as to our position. The cold did not trouble us."

WINDSOR LOSES ROYAL STANDING IN NEXT GOTHA

LONDON (UP)—In the next edition of the "Almanach de Gotha," the famous reference book to all the royal and near-royal families in Europe, the Duke of Windsor will appear in the third part of the book devoted to non-royal families.

Under the Royal House of Windsor, in the first section of the book, he will be referred to in two brief lines as "Edward of Windsor," brother of the King. In the non-royal part a new house will be created under the name of the Duchy of Windsor. Everything is complete except the titles which will follow the Duke's name. At present the intention is to refer to the Duchess only in the third section of the book. She will not be mentioned with the Duke in the first section.

The fact that the Duke was King will be given, together with the date of his abdication.

The third part of the Almanach is headed:

"Genealogy of certain princely non-sovereign houses of Europe."

The differentiation between various countries is made because in some parts of Europe a prince need not have royal status, and has the same rank as a duke in England.

SOLDIER MISSES FIRST BIRTHDAY SWIM IN YEARS

MT. VERNON, July 15—(UP)—

Theodore S. Pitkin, 91, one of Knox county's three remaining Civil War veterans, missed his annual birthday swim for the first time in a number of years recently because of cold weather.

Disappointed, Pitkin contented himself by working in his garden—one of Mt. Vernon's most productive—in the morning, picking cherries, smoking his pipe, reading, posing for a photograph with his son, grandson and great-grandchildren, and topped off the day with a huge birthday dinner.

Pitkin was born July 2, 1846 on a Milford county farm, the deed of which bears the signature "Andrew Jackson, president of the United States."

During the civil war, Pitkin fought with Company G, 20th Ohio infantry, participating in the siege of Vicksburg and the battle of Atlanta. He was shot through the chest during the latter encounter.

Pitkin's three brothers were killed during the war.

Pitkin's eyesight and general physical condition are good. He attributes his condition to "plenty of hard work."

AT THE CLIFTONA

The operation of a unique radio beam designed to control from the ground a pilotless airplane, forms the basis for much of the comedy-melodrama action in Joe E. Brown's current laugh-provoker, "Riding on Air," an RKO Radio picture which opens Friday at the Cliftona Theatre.

Portraying the character of Elmer Lane, which was created by Richard Macaulay in his famous series of Saturday Evening Post stories, Joe E. Brown is seen as the editor of the village newspaper as well as the figurehead president of an airplane radio-beam company formed by Guy Kibbee, notorious confidence man. By capturing a gang of perfume air smugglers through the practical use of the beam Brown saves the day, not to mention the investments of the townsfolk who have been hoodwinked by Kibbee.

AT THE GRAND

The screen offering which opens at the Grand Theatre today is Universal's "She's Dangerous!" featuring Tala Birell as the dangerous female of the species. Cesar Romero, portraying a gang leader who steals $500,000 in bonds, becomes desperately infatuated with the lady, to his own undoing. Tala is an insurance company detective sent to get evidence which will convict him. The net is about to fall on Romero when circumstances sweep Tala into the trap she has set for him. The gang leader kills the chief detective a few minutes after Tala visits that officer. Suspicion points to her, and Romero is the only person who can prove her innocence. The gangster chatters a plane to dispose of the stolen bonds in a distant city. Tala goes along to keep track of the bonds.

Series of Civic Gatherings

SAN DIEGO, Calif., July 15—(UP)—The three Russian airmen who flew over the top of the world to establish a new non-stop distance record and demonstrate the feasibility of the Polar aerial route, rested here today preparatory to a round of civic receptions and inspections of aircraft factories.

The trio—Michael Gromov, Andrei Yumashev and Sergei Danilin—flew more than 7,000 miles along a route that carried them from Moscow over the pole and then south over the Arctic wastes across Canada and down the Pacific coast into Mexico. Their actual mileage, however, will not be known until the three sealed barographs they carried are checked by the National Aeronautical Association.

NAVY EXTENDS PACIFIC AERIAL DEFENSIVE LINE

Fleet of Giant Bombers For North, South, East Outposts Planned

TWO-YEAR PROGRAM AIRED

More Massed Flights To Be Held in Short Time

SAN DIEGO, Cal., July 15 (UP)—The navy is lengthening and strengthening its "first line of defense" in the Pacific.

Before the end of 1938, huge patrol bombing planes, most powerful air fighters of their type in the world, will be dropping along almost daily over some part of an area embracing some 5,000,000 square miles. The planes will be stationed so as to be instantly available should trouble rise in the Pacific.

It is the plan of the navy to have 140 of these most modern fighting craft on duty in the great semi-circle extending from the Aleutian Islands, through Guam, Wake and Midway to the Hawaiian group and then bending eastward to Panama before another 12 months passes.

Planes designated for this duty are the PBV-2's with a cruising range of nearly 4,000 miles, a top speed of in excess of 150 miles an hour, with a full load. The full load consists of at least 10,000 pounds of gasoline, a crew of six or seven men, machine guns, munitions and more than a ton of bombs.

More Massed Flights Planned
In order to have these fighters at strategic points, the Navy, during the next few months, will sponsor at least nine long distance, mass flights, similar to the three carried out already this year as "routine transfers."

Hardly had the planes of the VP-3-F squadron landed at Coco Solo, C. Z., after a 3,085-nautical-mile flight from San Diego than it became known at least two more Panama flights are to be undertaken in the near future, with the crews already here for intensive training. The new PBV-2's are to be ferried to the Canal Zone in each instance to replace older, less formidable patrol bombers.

Three more flights across the 2,500 nautical miles from San Diego to Pearl Harbor are being planned, with two already successfully completed since Jan. 1.

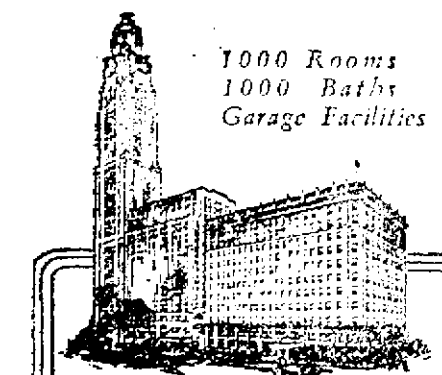

Seattle, near the Canadian border, and the operating base for the Bering Sea and far northern waters, also is to receive two squadrons of the powerful new fighting craft.

Two Squadrons at Norfolk
On the East coast, at Norfolk, Va., the navy will station two more squadrons of the planes—which are virtual dreadnoughts of the air. They will be for the protection of the Atlantic seaboard.

In all, the navy is building 16 squadrons of the patrol bombers, and 14 will be stationed in the semi-circular "first line of defense area." Of those 14 squadrons, of 12 planes each, to be stationed in the Pacific area, five will be in Hawaii, three in Panama, two in Seattle, and four in San Diego.

The navy is closely guarding the actual construction and operating details of the huge bombers, and likewise is maintaining strict secrecy as to the time of the pending "delivery flights."

CIVIC HALL GOES ON BLOCK
HONOLULU (UP)—Civic auditoriums have become a drug on the market here. However, the city's $40,000 hall brought $1,000 at sheriff's sale, with all obligations thrown in as good measure.

NAVY EXTENDS PACIFIC AERIAL DEFENSIVE LINE

Fleet of Giant Bombers For North, South, East Out-
posts Planned

TWO-YEAR PROGRAM AIED

More Massed Flights To Be Held in Short Time

SAN DIEGO, Cal., July 15 (UP)—The navy is lengthening and strengthening its "first line of defense" in the Pacific.

Before the end of 1938 huge patrol bombing planes, most powerful air fighters of their type in the world, will be dropping along almost daily over some part of an area embracing some 5,000,000 square miles. The planes will be stationed so as to be instantly available should trouble rise in the Pacific.

It is the plan of the navy to have 140 of these most modern fighting craft on duty in the great semi-circle extending from the Aleutian Islands, through Guam, Wake and Midway to the Hawaiian group and then bending eastward to Panama before another 12 months passes.

Planes designated for this duty are the PBV-2's with a cruising range of nearly 4,000 miles, a top speed of in excess of 150 miles an hour, with a full load. The full load consists of at least 10,000 pounds of gasoline, a crew of six or seven men, machine guns, munitions and more than a ton of bombs.

More Massed Flights Planned
In order to have these fighters at strategic points, the Navy, during the next few months, will sponsor at least nine long distance, mass flights, similar to the three carried out already this year as "routine transfers."

Hardly had the planes of the VP-3-F squadron landed at Coco Solo, C. Z., after a 3,085-nautical-mile flight from San Diego than it became known at least two more Panama flights are to be undertaken in the near future, with the crews already here for intensive training. The new PBV-2's are to be ferried to the Canal Zone in each instance to replace older, less formidable patrol bombers.

Three more flights across the 2,500 nautical miles from San Diego to Pearl Harbor are being planned, with two already successfully completed since Jan. 1.

Seattle, near the Canadian border, and the operating base for the Bering Sea and far northern waters, also is to receive two squadrons of the powerful new fighting craft.

Two Squadrons at Norfolk
On the East coast, at Norfolk, Va., the navy will station two more squadrons of the planes—which are virtual dreadnoughts of the air. They will be for the protection of the Atlantic seaboard.

In all, the navy is building 16 squadrons of the patrol bombers, and 14 will be stationed in the semi-circular "first line of defense area." Of those 14 squadrons, of 12 planes each, to be stationed in the Pacific area, five will be in Hawaii, three in Panama, two in Seattle, and four in San Diego.

The navy is closely guarding the actual construction and operating details of the huge bombers, and likewise is maintaining strict secrecy as to the time of the pending "delivery flights."

CIVIC HALL GOES ON BLOCK

TRIAL OF FORD OUSTER CLOSED IN CHILLICOTHE

Judge Jewell Takes Action Under Advisement After Defense Rests

HEBERT TO FILL BRIEF

Permission to Operate Slot Machines Charged

CHILLICOTHE, July 15.—(UP)—Judge Harrison W. Jewell of Delaware, specially assigned court in the impeachment trial of Mayor James E. Ford, today took under advisement evidence submitted in the case pending filing of briefs by the defense and state.

The trial came to an abrupt end last yesterday when Attorney Paul Herbert, representing Mayor Ford, rested his case without a witness. Herbert was given 10 days to submit a brief on jurisdiction in the case, after which the prosecution will have five days for an answer.

A long line of witnesses completed three days' testimony to show that the 71-year-old mayor permitted slot machines to operate here in violation of his campaign promises. Ministers, who had formed the Citizens League to circulate petitions demanding the hearing, were among the witnesses.

The jurisdictional argument concerns the number of signatures required to start a trial.

Faces Grand Jury

ALBERT DYER, the 32-year-old WPA worker who allegedly confessed to the kidnap-slaying of three Ingleswood, Cal., girls, is pictured en route to court to face grand jury action.

STATE'S SCHOOL MEN TO GATHER IN ATHENS SOON

ATHENS, July 15.—Superintendents, principals and board members of public schools in southeastern Ohio have been invited to meet with the chief officials of the State Department of Education at Ohio University on July 20.

At this time, school officials and teachers having professional problems, for which the department's help is needed, will lay these problems before the staff members personally.

In addition to personal conferences, there will be general discussion meetings presided over by the state officials headed by Director of Education E. L. Bowsher. Others coming from Columbus for the regional meeting are F. H. McNutt, G. H. Reavis, E. N. Dietrich and D. H. Sutton.

Among the subjects to be discussed are teacher-training and supervision; standards, curriculum and instruction; territorial organization and transportation; and school finance.

The conferences, beginning at 10 a. m. and lasting until 4 p. m., will be held in the Edwin Watts Chubb Library on the University campus.

The first regular airmail service in the world was established between New York City and Washington, D. C., in 1918.

MONEY MEASURE GOES TO DAVEY AS OTHERS SIGN

Governor May Approve or

Legislation

WORKERS ARE PAYLESS

Over $94,000,000 to Be Used
In 1937-38

COLUMBUS, July 15.—(UP)—The $94,554,000 general appropriations bill for 1937-1938, passed by the general assembly Monday, had been signed by presiding officers of both houses today. The bill now goes to Governor Davey, who has power to veto any items in it that he disapproves.

State employees were expected to suffer at least a few days' delay in the semi-monthly payday due today, as appropriations for the latter half of the year will not become effective until the governor has signed the bill and filed it with the secretary of state.

300 - ACRE TRACT, ONCE A VILLAGE, SOLD BY SHERIFF

LOGAN, July 15 — (UP) — Even the populous state of Ohio can have a "ghost town." At a sheriff's sale recently held in Hocking county a 300-acre tract, which contains the site of the "ghost town" of Point Pleasant, was sold for $1575.

Years ago the town was laid out with plans for 38 lots, and of course, a "Main street." Today there is no mark to show human hopes and desires had once visualized a thriving city at that spot. An atlas dated 1876 listed Point Pleasant as having one inhabitant. This was H. C. Kalklosch, "dealer in fine sheep and professional teacher." Until recently Kalklosch's heirs owned the property. Only two bidders appeared at the sale.

ORE DETECTOR MAY ELIMINATE MINING ERRORS

PLATTEVILLE, Wis. (UP) — Clarence L. Bevan, Platteville inventor, has perfected a mineral detector which he believes will be error-proof in finding ore deposits.

After three years of experimentation, Bevan said the detector has been tested successfully. He has applied for a patent.

Bevan said the mineral finder "reacts on the conductivity of the ground, including stratas of clay, pebbles, rock, and minerals."

"An electric current is produced that is measured over the entire area with a super-sensitive detecting instrument," he said. The inventor said that the success of the ore detector was revealed by drilling holes in the ground and revealing lead veins after the instrument had disclosed the mineral's presence.

JUDGE RAISES UMBRELLA

SYDNEY (UP)—Sydney's law courts are famed for their age, their discomfort and their bad roof. Recently rain, finding an entrance to a court where Judge Swift was hearing a complicated property case, forced the judge to say: "Well, there's nothing for it, gentlemen, but to put up an umbrella." He promptly did so.

PAYLESS OUTING ON PROGRAM FOR STATE WORKERS

COLUMBUS, July 15 — (UP)—Ohio 20,000 state employees may have to undergo a "payless picnic" Friday at Cedar Point.

Every year at this time a holiday is declared so that employees and their families can enjoy a one-day outing. Friday has been selected as the date.

This year, however, Governor Martin I. Davey and a group of Senate "hatchet men" became involved in a controversy over the appropriations bill, and a budget measure was not passed by the legislature until Monday night.

Consequently, state employees will go without their regular salary checks for the first half of July, unless the governor signs the budget bill within the next few days.

The measure was signed by officers at both houses late yesterday and sent to the governor.

However, John M. Caren, executive secretary to the governor, was not optimistic over the prospects of its being signed immediately.

The governor may, in fact, he said, mull over the bill for some time and perhaps veto several of the appropriations.

State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson cannot make out the checks to state employees pending action by the governor on the bill.

The state auditor, he explained, must wait until payrolls are certified to him by the budget division of the finance director's office.

and the budget division cannot certify the payrolls until it finds out what items the governor will or will not approve.

CANADA SEES TOURIST GAIN

OTTAWA, Ont. (UP)—Tourists visiting Canada this year will spend at least $325,000,000, D. Leo Dolan, director of the Canadian Travel Bureau, predicts. Dolan said indications were that the tourist influx, particularly from the United States, would be the greatest in history.

STATE'S SCHOOL MEN TO GATHER IN ATHENS SOON

ATHENS, July 15.—Superintendents, principals and board members of public schools in southeastern Ohio have been invited to meet with the chief officials of the State Department of Education at Ohio University on July 20.

At this time, school officials and teachers having professional problems, for which the department's help is needed, will lay these problems before the staff members personally.

In addition to personal conferences, there will be general discussion meetings presided over by the state officials headed by Director of Education E. L. Bowsher. Others coming from Columbus for the regional meeting are F. H. McNutt, G. H. Reavis, E. N. Dietrich and D. H. Sutton.

Among the subjects to be discussed are teacher-training and supervision; standards, curriculum and instruction; territorial organization and transportation; and school finance.

The conferences, beginning at 10 a. m. and lasting until 4 p. m., will be held in the Edwin Watts Chubb Library on the University campus.

The first regular airmail service in the world was established between New York City and Washington, D. C., in 1918.

WORKERS ARE PAYLESS

Over $94,000,000 to Be Used
In 1937-38

COLUMBUS, July 15.—(UP)—The $94,554,000 general appropriations bill for 1937-1938, passed by the general assembly Monday, had been signed by presiding officers of both houses today. The bill now goes to Governor Davey, who has power to veto any items in it that he disapproves.

State employees were expected to suffer at least a few days' delay in the semi-monthly payday due today, as appropriations for the latter half of the year will not become effective until the governor has signed the bill and filed it with the secretary of state.

300 - ACRE TRACT, ONCE A VILLAGE, SOLD BY SHERIFF

LOGAN, July 15 — (UP)—Even the populous state of Ohio can have a "ghost town." At a sheriff's sale recently held in Hocking county a 300-acre tract, which contains the site of the "ghost town" of Point Pleasant, was sold for $1575.

Years ago the town was laid out with plans for 38 lots, and of course, a "Main street." Today there is no mark to show human hopes and desires had once visualized a thriving city at that spot. An atlas dated 1876 listed Point Pleasant as having one inhabitant. This was H. C. Kalklosch, "dealer in fine sheep and professional teacher." Until recently Kalklosch's heirs owned the property. Only two bidders appeared at the sale.

ORE DETECTOR MAY ELIMINATE MINING ERRORS

PLATTEVILLE, Wis. (UP)—Clarence L. Bevan, Platteville inventor, has perfected a mineral detector which he believes will eliminate errors in finding ore deposits. After three years of experimentation, Bevan said the detector has been tested successfully. He has applied for a patent. Bevan said the mineral finder "reacts on the conductivity of the ground, including stratas of clay, pchre, rock, and minerals." "An electric current is produced that is measured over the entire area with a supersensitive detecting instrument," he said. The inventor said that the success of the ore detector was revealed by drilling holes in the ground and revealing lead veins after the instrument had disclosed the mineral's presence.

Shippers Combat Rates For Railroad Hauling

ATLANTA, July 13—(UP)—Spurred by validation of the Wagner labor act, labor unionization drives are going forward in the textile industry, in the steel plants of Alabama, and in scores of miscellaneous industries, a survey reveals.

Most of the unionizing efforts are being sponsored by the Committee for Industrial Organization, which is striving to unionize textile mills.

The goal is to put wages, hours and working conditions on a level comparable with those in other sections of the country and to allow no mill to operate on less than minimums established by the defunct N. R. A.

A. Steve Nance, director of the textile workers organizing committee for the South, told the United Press good progress is being made in the organization drive.

Mills Sign Contracts
New contracts signed include the American Thread Mills, Dalton, Ga.; May Hosiery Mills, Nashville, Tenn.; Waverly Mills, Laurinburg, N. C.; Ervin Cotton Manufacturing Company, Huntsville, Ala.; Southern Mills and Atlanta Woolen Mills, both of Atlanta.

Although provisions of the contracts vary to some extent, it is said they all provide wage increases, application of the seniority rule, and prohibit strikes and lockouts, providing that all disputes be settled by arbitration.

Nance said the drive of the textile workers organization committee did not anticipate strikes and that he hoped to obtain contracts with "every textile mill in the South" through peaceful organizational methods.

NOTICE FOR APPLICATIONS UNDER THE UNIFORM DEPOSITORY ACT.

Applications will be received by the undersigned at the office of the Board of County Commissioners of Pickaway County, Ohio, until twelve o'clock of the 15th day of July 1937 from any financial institution legally eligible which may desire to submit a written application to be a public depository of the inactive deposits of the public moneys of said board, as provided by the Uniform Depository Act, Sections 2281-1, et seq. of the General Code of Ohio.

Said applications shall be made in conformity with the following resolution passed on the 23rd day of June, 1937:

WHEREAS, the contracts with this board for depositories expire on the 23rd day of August, 1937; therefore, be it

RESOLVED, That the estimated aggregate maximum amount of public funds subject to the control of said board to be awarded and be on deposit as inactive deposits is Not Over One Hundred and Fifty Thousand Dollars ($150,000.00) and the probable maximum amount of public moneys to be awarded and be on deposit as inactive deposits at any time during the period of designation is Two Hundred and Fifty Thousand Dollars ($250,000.00).

Award of the inactive deposits of public moneys subject to the control of said County of Pickaway will be made at the same time and place for a period of two years, commencing on the 23rd day of June, 1937, and applications for the same may be combined with applications for designation as a public depository of the inactive deposits but separately awarded.

Applications should be sealed and endorsed "Application under the Uniform Depository Act."

BOY REWARDED; COULDN'T SWIM BUT SAVED GIRL

PHILADELPHIA (UP)—A boy who couldn't swim—but saved a girl from drowning—has received his reward.

Marvin Long, 18, plunged into 20 feet of water last Memorial Day, "moved his feet," and brought out Elsie Lagler, 8, just as she was about to go under for the last time.

At the June graduation exercises of Central High School, although he was not a member of the graduating class, Marvin was presented with the special Barnwell Foundation gold hero medal.

And as a further reward, the father of the girl he saved is going to teach the young hero to how to swim.

Fuel Levy Turned Back
ST. PAUL (UP) — Minnesota counties have received back from the state more than $87,000,000 in gasoline taxes collected since 1921, a report of the state highway commissioner disclosed. During the same 15 year period the state has invested $182,914,242 in its state trunk system.

Boon to Wages Seen
"If we can obtain equal rates with other sections, and important step toward putting wages on a level with those in the North and East will be accomplished," he said.

Scores of new industries have been established since the first of the year. Moving to the new "industrial frontier," these new factories will provide employment for thousands of workers.

The influx has included the fields of textiles, chemicals, oil refineries, rubber and wood pulp. Coupled with expansion of the steel industry in Alabama, they will add millions of dollars to the South's annual payroll.

"It all means," said Gov. Graves, "real prosperity with agriculture balanced with industry."

CAT KEEPS DEATH VIGIL
CLEVELAND (UP) — Police summoned by anxious neighbors found Mrs. Luna Scribner, 75-year-old recluse, dead in her home. A cat, her constant companion for many years, was curled up in corner.

BRITAIN BUILDS CRIME SCIENCE

Laboratory as Crime Trap Gaining Favor With Authorities

LONDON (UP)—A report dealing with the importance of science in crime investigation, and showing how the laboratory is often the trap for criminals, has been circulated to police authorities in Great Britain by the Home Office.

The report was compiled by the late C. T. Symons, who was Home Office Adviser on the application of scientific aids to police work. It states that scientific aid may be divided roughly into two parts: that which may or must in some cases be carried out by the police officer, and second, that which must in every case be done by the expert, either at the scene or chiefly in a laboratory.

"For example," the report says, "the making of casts of gross impressions, such as footprints, and their comparison lie within the work of the police officer. But the analysis of the mud adhering to footwear used for comparison with such casts would be the work for the scientist."

Much Evidence Passed Over

Symons gave two examples where both county police and scientists co-operated. One case concerned the theft of cabbages, and accurate photographs of the cut portions in apposition demonstrated clearly that the cabbages seized had come from the roots left in the field. The other case concerned a motor-car accident. It was suspected that the driver had moved his car after the accident from the off side of the road to the near side. The finding of a small fragment of car enamel on the extreme off side of the road, and a careful photographic comparison with a portion of the radiator from which enamel was missing, demonstrated that the one fitted exactly into the other.

Cities "First Aid Posts"
"What may be called 'first-aid scientific posts,' have been started on several forces during the past two years," the report reveals.

"Their work consists merely in the careful visual examination and recording photographically of material which they have collected. For this purpose the Home Office has advised:

1—A suitable binocular magnifier for use by police officers, trained on the scientific side, either at headquarters or at the scene of the crime.

2—Some efficient form of photographic apparatus, for recording what is found at the scene of the crime, and in certain cases.

3—A handy portable form of ultra-violet lamp which can be used either at a scene, when electric current is available, for search for stains, or for general photographic work, or in the police premises for more detailed examination of material, such as suspected alteration in a document.

"Eventually, when a complete system of laboratories, covering the whole country, is in being, the expenses of the whole should be pooled and any force should be at liberty to use the most convenient or the nearest to the place where the work arose."

Youth's Play Too Realistic
BUTTE, Mont. (UP)—A group of children here were playing a new punchboard game called "Truth" when one of them punched out the instructions "Call the Fire Department." He did, and the youngster's parents had to apologize to the department for the weird effects produced by "Truth."

Dog's Faithfulness Fatal
RIGBY, Ida. (UP) — Kenneth Chase, 12, fell victim here to the love of his dog, Jack. Jack was constantly at the side of his young master. Kenneth leaped a fence, and the dog sprang after him. The dog's head struck Kenneth in the right temple, and the boy died four hours later.

and better working conditions in the textile mills of the South," Nance added. "Strikes and lockouts are not in our scheme. We do not believe they are necessary."

State legislators are acting to raise wages. During the past few months, legislatures in a half dozen states passed laws designed to better working conditions, raise wages and shorten hours.

North Carolina Takes Lead
North Carolina set the pace, enacting laws which call for a 9-hour day and 48-hour week for women to replace the 11-hour day. Hours for men were limited to 30 daily and 55 weekly.

North Carolina also adopted a model child labor law, while South Carolina improved its child labor statutes. A law limiting working hours for the latter state's 85,000 textile workers was killed, however, when the house and senate could not agree. South Carolina did adopt a law providing for safety inspections and empowering the state labor department to collect unpaid wages due workers.

Georgia's legislature created a state labor department for the first time and adopted a 10-hour

BRITAIN BUILDS CRIME SCIENCE

Laboratory as Crime Trap Gaining Favor With Authorities

LONDON (UP)—A report dealing with the importance of science in crime investigation, and showing how the laboratory is often the trap for criminals, has been circulated to police authorities in Great Britain by the Home Office.

The report was compiled by the late C. T. Symons, who was Home Office Adviser on the application of scientific aids to police work. It states that scientific aid may be divided roughly into two parts: that which may or must in some cases be carried out by the police officer, and second, that which must in every case be done by the expert, either at the scene or chiefly in a laboratory.

"For example," the report says, "the making of casts of gross impressions, such as footprints, and their comparison lie within the work of the police officer. But the analysis of the mud adhering to footwear used for comparison with such casts would be the work for the scientist."

Much Evidence Passed Over

Symons gave two examples where both county police and scientists co-operated. One case concerned the theft of cabbages, and accurate photographs of the cut portions in opposition demonstrated clearly that the cabbages seized had come from the roots left in the field. The other case concerned a motor-car accident. It was suspected that the driver had moved his car after the accident from the off side of the road to the near side. The finding of a small fragment of car enamel on the extreme off side of the road, and its careful photographic comparison with a portion of the radiator from which enamel was missing, demonstrated that the one fitted exactly into the other.

Cities "First Aid Posts"

"What may be called 'first-aid scientific posts,' have been started on several forces during the past two years," the report reveals. "Their work consists merely in the careful visual examination and recording photographically of material which they have collected."

For this purpose the Home Office has advised:

1—A suitable binocular magnifier for use by police officers, trained on the scientific side, either at headquarters or at the scene of the crime.

2—Some efficient form of photographic apparatus, for recording what is found at the scene of the crime, and in certain cases.

3—A handy portable form of ultra-violet lamp which can be used either at a scene, when electric current is available, for search for stains, or for general photographic work, or in the police premises for more detailed examination of material, such as suspected alteration in a document.

"Eventually, when a complete system of laboratories, covering the whole country, is in being, the expenses of the whole should be pooled and any force should be at liberty to use the most convenient or the nearest to the place where the work arose."

Youth's Play Too Realistic

BUTTE, Mont. (UP)—A group of children here were playing a new punchboard game called "Truth" when one of them punched out the instructions "Call the Fire Department." He did, and the youngster's parents had to apologize to the department for the weird effects produced by "Truth."

Dog's Faithfulness Fatal

RIGBY, Ida. (UP) — Kenneth Chase, 12, fell victim here to the love of his dog, Jack. Jack was constantly at the side of his young master. Kenneth leaped a fence, and the dog sprang after him. The dog's head struck Kenneth in the right temple, and the boy died four hours later.

FAME TO MAKE LENGTHY STAND IN 'GHOST CITY'

Central City, Colo., Host at Presentation of "The Doll House"

TOWN WAS SILVER-PAVED

Three Weeks to be Devoted to Glamorous Drama

CENTRAL CITY, Colo., July 13 (UP)—Historic Central City, drab relic of Colorado's booming mining days, resumes the tempo of its glamorous past to pay host to thousands of drama lovers and tourists at Dick Aldrich's presentation of Henrik Ibsen's "The Doll's House" at the 6th revival of its famous opera house July 17-Aug. 7.

Once each year the state's longest-lived mining camp, whose gold mines yielded $186,000,000 from the time they were discovered in 1859 until 1900, assumes festive attire and becomes a mecca for drama lovers from every section of the United States. The rest of the year it is a "ghost city."

The dramatic revival is produced in the grey stone opera house erected in 1878 by popular subscription. During the heyday of the camp, the boards of the opera house were trod by such famous artists as Booth, Barrett, Bernhardt, Adeline Patti, Salvini, Modjeska and Joe Jefferson.

The Opera House has walls four feet thick and stands directly over Eureka Creek. The floors are red-carpeted and the seats are hickory wood chairs.

Street Once Silver Paved
Each year a new type of presentation is staged at the mining camp which is perched over the forks of two gulches. Thousands of cars stream up perilous Virginia Creek road each year to famous Eureka street which was once paved with silver ingots for the stage coach arrival of President Ulysses S. Grant.

This year "The Doll's House" is the presentation of the non-profit organization which stages the event.

Aldrich, young Broadway producer, has brought a new cast from New York, where preliminary rehearsals were held. The version of the production was written by Thornton Wilder of Yale University who won the Pulitzer prize with his novel, "The Bridge of San Luis Rey."

Wilder's translation is no departure from Ibsen. He has combined his thorough knowledge of the Norwegian language with his well-established love of poetry to give a version of "The Doll's House" which some critics have called the most accurate translation of the spirit of Ibsen which has been made.

Ruth Gordon, talented Broadway actress will play the role of Nora with Dennis King as Dr. Rank and Walter Selzak as Torvald Helmer.

Slezak, idol of the Vienna and Berlin stage, journeyed here from Vienna to make his first important dramatic debut in the United States.

Margaret Woller will play Mrs. Linden with Sam Jaffe as Nils Krogstad. The children will be played by Kent Vickery, Horace Hawkins III and Mary Hawkins.

The production is staged and directed by Jed Harris with Donald Oenslager doing the sets and costumes.

DOCTORS GIVE ADVICE TO HELP AUTOS' VICTIMS

Injuries Often Aggravated By Awkwardness of Persons
At Scene

"SAMARITAN" HARMFUL
First Aid Hints Discussed By Police Doctor

CLEVELAND, July 15 (UP) — The crumpling crash of an automobile accident invariably draws an excited crowd of bystanders, witnesses and scores of "helpful" suggestions for the care of the injured.

From these crowds of curbstone kibitzers there invariably steps "the good samaritan" who offers the use of his car and knowledge of the city to speed the crash victims to the nearest hospital. "The good samaritan" supervises and aids in the placing of the injured in his car and then drives with all speed to the nearest emergency ward with his self-imposed charge.

The curbstone "good samaritan" is somewhat of a menace and usually does more harm than good to the auto crash victims, believes Dr. George P. O'Malley, for 15 years head police surgeon of Cleveland.

Offers First Aid Hints

"Reduction of traffic deaths and serious injuries depends most — next to prevention of accidents themselves — upon the clear-headedness of the persons on the scene," Dr. O'Malley said. "Once a smash-up has occurred, the problem of immediate importance is to get the victim to a hospital emergency room without aggravating his injuries."

For the bystander to make himself more useful at the scene of an auto accident, Dr. O'Malley gave these rules:

First—Summon an ambulance.
Second—Refuse to jam an injured person into the first passing auto.

Awkward haste and unskilled handling by the curbstone congregations are the two surest allies of death and disability that hover over every accident, according to Dr. John Dickenson, state chairman of the committee on fractures of the American College of Surgeons.

"A simple leg fracture, for instance, when the limb is not splinted may be converted into a compound, with the jagged edges of bone sawing through flesh and nerves like a knife. A splintered rib may pierce a lung, or a smashed vertebra sever the spinal cord during the apparently simple act of lifting a victim into an auto," Dr. Dickenson pointed out.

Women Called Calmest

Men at the scene of an accident, oddly enough, are much more excitable as a rule, than women, according to Dr. O'Malley. A woman's natural nursing instinct seems to tell her that the best thing to do for an injured person is to keep him quiet and comfortable as possible. A man, on the other hand, is impelled by an irresistible urge to do something active and positive.

"The good samaritan" should cover victims with a blanket or coat. Warmth helps. Bleeding, if possible, should receive immediate attention. It can be checked with a handkerchief compress or by finger pressure on the artery without moving the victim. Before the numbness of shock has worn off the high-speed ambulance-and-staff will be on the scene—and the "good samaritan's" job is over.

TRIBE TO DANCE "THE SKELETON" AT FOLK SESSION

LEWISBURG, Pa. (UP)—The skeleton dance of the Nanticoke Indian will be performed for the first time around white men's "council fires" during the Pennsylvania Folk Festival July 30 and 31.

Descendants of the once powerful tribe, led by Chief Little Owl, or Charles C. Clark, of River Dale Park, Del., will return to ancestral hunting grounds here from their little settlement on the Indian River, Sussex County, Del.

In the weird tribal ritual a human skeleton is held aloft as a tribute to the dead.

This time the "principal" will be borrowed from Bucknell University's biology laboratory.

Adventurous Venezulean Youths Tramp 8,000 Miles in Two Years To Attend Boy Scout Jamboree

Obstacles Many on Long Trek to U. S.

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 15—Pierce jungle bandits, malarial fever, and savage man-eating beasts were just a few of the obstacles which two Boy Scouts, Juan Carmona and Rafael Petit, had to meet and overcome during an incredible 8,000-mile hike on foot from Venezuela to Washington.

The two Venezuelan Boy Scouts, who came to Washington for the Boy Scout jamboree started from Caracas, the capital of Venezuela, with the good wishes of Venezuelan government officials, two years ago. It took them exactly two years to make the perilous trek through South American jungles, across mountain passes, and through treacherous swamps and mud flats.

Hard on Shoes

They arrived in Washington browned to a crisp, carrying American and Venezuelan flags, and pulling a little cart full of souvenirs. The cart they acquired in Mexico City. From Mexico onward their pace was rapid. They averaged 25 miles a day. During the entire hike, they wore out 32 pairs of shoes, some of which were high top boots for jungle and mountain travel; some were tennis sneakers for road walking.

The two youths, who are 26 and 23 years old, walked every step of the way on foot, except where they had to be ferried across rivers or other impassable bodies of water.

It was a long walk, they admitted on arriving in the national capital, but they decided that it was worth it. They were received here by the Venezuelan minister, and by U. S. government officials. Housed in the best suite of rooms in the Venezuelan legation, the boys were told to consider themselves national heroes.

Back in Caracas, the two had been started off with the best wishes of government officials, but with many forebodings as to whether they would ever arrive at their destination. It was to be a demonstration of Boy Scout craft and skill. Carmona and Petit, who are scoutmasters back in Venezuela, carried with them nothing but standard Boy Scout equipment.

Lived Like Tarzan

Striking straight off through the jungle, the two youths passed through regions in equatorial Colombia into which no white man ever had set foot. They had to cut their way through the jungle fastnesses with knives. They slept in the trees, like the mythical Tarzan, to keep out of the reach of the hundreds of man-eating beasts and poisonous snakes who infest and prowl through the jungle.

For five months their clothes were constantly soaked through by the tropical moisture, with never a day of dryness. During that time one of the boys was brought down by malarial fever, but was nursed back to health by his companion. Some times they made as little progress as two miles for a full day's effort.

They met with long stretches of insidious swamp and quicksand, in which they traveled with improvised mud skis. Once or twice they lost bearings, but with their Boy Scout training quickly located themselves again, they told their hosts here in relating their adventures.

On one occasion they were taken in by a tribe of native South American Indians, who were friendly to a point of discomfort. The two Boy Scouts had a difficult time taking leave of the Indian hospitality. They were able to converse only by signs.

In Honduras the Boy Scouts were captured by a ragged band of desperate bandits who made all sorts of threats until they were convinced that the two young men were actually without funds, and "living off the land." Then they escorted the boys out of the bandit region.

Mexico was a pleasant surprise. There the two hikers were greeted by fellow Boy Scouts who paid them every tribute for their enterprise. They were escorted for 30 miles out of Mexico City by a huge caravan of Mexican Boy Scouts.

Like American Girls

Crossing the Rio Grande, the boys found themselves in the United States—and set themselves to the task of learning English. Their outstanding impression thus far of this country is, according to their enthusiastic expressions of approval, "the wonderful American girls."

But because their knowledge of the language has been limited, their diet, up until their arrival in Washington, had been strictly limited to "sunwedges and coffee."

The two Venezuelans are now accredited Boy Scout heroes.

Then they will linger for a short time in Washington as the guests of the Venezuelan legation while one of them, Carmona, the younger, takes some medical treat-

AUSTRALIA SETS PACE IN BOOM

Corner of Depression Turned, Nations Find; Much Spent
For Construction

CANBERRA (UP)—Australia is boasting of being the first member of the British commonwealth, if not, indeed, the first country in the world, to turn completely the corner of trade depression.

As a consequence, it is now benefiting greatly by the general rise in the world level of prices while unemployment has been reduced to a normal level.

Official figures just gathered by the government on every aspect of the national economy show that Australia is back on a normal basis from the world-wide depression that resulted from the World War.

Deposits in the 10 Australian trading banks have reached the total of $1,535,000,000 and are in excess of advances by $225,730,000, while London funds to meet debt and other commitments have increased during the last year by roughly $50,000,000.

Unemployment has fallen from the peak of 30 percent in June, 1932, to 8.4 percent, which is normal in Western Australia, however, it is as low as 5.4 percent.

Building is enjoying an exceptional boom throughout the country, carrying with it a corresponding prosperity in the heavy industries.

In the six state capitals, nearly $120,000,000 was spent on building during the fiscal year just ended, as against only $20,697,000 in 1931-32. Sydney and suburbs alone last year spent $50,300,000.

Railway traffic also is reflecting the return of prosperity. The return on capital earned by the Victorian railways for the year was 3.2 percent, or .86 percent more than the four English groups and 1.69 percent better than the first class American lines.

The New South Wales government lines expect to beat their

FILM SHORTAGE HITS GERMANY DUE TO CENSOR

BERLIN (UP)—An acute film shortage has developed in Germany.

The supply of films is running so low that Berlin's leading movies are reviving last season's hits.

Thus, one of the most fashionable film theatres in the Berlin West End revived Marlene Dietrich's "Desire," and Berlin's biggest movie house, the Ufa Palace is showing an old Austrian comedy.

The chief reason for the shortage is that a surprisingly large percentage of films sold to theatres could never be delivered because they had been banned by the censor. Thus, it is said that one-fourth of the films announced record of passenger traffic for the year by more than 7,500,000 fares. This system, incidentally, holds the world's safety record of carrying 1,500,000,000 people in the last 10 years without a fatality.

PRICES FOR TOP HOGS SLIDE 70 CENTS ON MART

Drop in Demand For Pork and Large Number Offered Cut Quotations

$12.15 HIGH MARK LISTED

112 Heads of Cattle and 315 Porkers Sold

Prices for top hogs at the Circleville livestock sale Wednesday were 70 cents a hundred under those of the previous week.

The hot weather, causing a drop in the demand for pork, and more hogs on the markets were cited for the price drop.

Good to choice hogs averaging from 180 to 250 pounds sold from $12.05 to $12.15 a hundred, Wednesday. The previous week the top was $12.85. Three hundred and fifteen were run through the sale.

Cattle totaled 112 heads. Good grassers sold from $10 to $12.60 a hundred. Good to choice calves were listed from $11.00 to $13.00.

UTAH SALT LAKE GERMLESS BASIN

LA JOLLA, Cal. (UP)—Scientists said today the Great Salt Lake in Utah is virtually a "germ-proof" swimming hole.

Researchers of the Scripps Institution of Oceanography of the University of California announced that all ordinary bacteria or "germ-carrying" microbes are killed instantly when exposed to the lake's concentrated salt waters. No land or fresh-water bacteria has yet been found which can live in the saline concentrated waters of the lake, they disclose.

It was found that the lake water was not only highly bactericidal or "killing," but was also bacteriostatic or "retarding" to the already present salt water-type bacteria.

Some types of microbes are living in the lake, said the scientists, but they differ from those of other habitats in that they develop slowly and are in smaller colonies. They are believed to be species which became used to the slowly increasing salt water concentration during the time the waters of the old Lake Bonneville evaporated, leaving the saline residue of Salt Lake.

The series of experiments was made by Dr. Claude E. Zobell and Dr. Quentin Anderson of the Scripps Institution and W. Whitney of the department of bacteriology, University of Utah.

ONE PINT OF BLOOD A DAY!

Without That Mother Dies—But Donors Provide Vital Fluid in Constant Stream to Save Stricken Woman's Life

ST. LOUIS, Mo., July 15—One day of life doesn't mean much; that is, unless it happens to be the last one!

To Mrs. Myrtle Owens, 33 years old, an expectant mother and wife of Earl Owens, South St. Louis leather worker, one day of life means a pint of blood. And if there isn't a pint of blood—someone's blood—anyone's blood, just so it is type No. 4—one day of life is the last day of life, for her.

But St. Louisans are determined that as long as she wants to live—as long as she keeps fighting, keeps calling up some reserve from her stout heart to fight off death—there'll always be plenty of pints of blood for her.

15 Weeks Ago—Fifteen weeks ago, Mrs. Owens was strong, healthy and happy. Already the mother of a beautiful 10-year-old girl, Alvena, Mrs. Owens was looking forward to the coming of another child.

Then, suddenly, she started to bleed at the gums. It puzzled her at first. She didn't bleed much then. But each day it became worse. And in 10 days she had to take to her bed. The bleeding by this time was profuse.

Her own doctor couldn't find the seat of the trouble. And he couldn't stop the bleeding. Mrs. Owens was taken to Bethesda General hospital.

And for 13 weeks now, the doctors of Bethesda hospital have waged a bitter fight with death, staying it off at a time.

The doctors diagnosed her case as a rare type of anemia. But they could not stop the blood from flowing out of her gums. But they could give her some more blood. First her sisters, then her brothers-in-law and then friends were called in—all to give of their blood. In the last 13 weeks, she has had only one about every three days.

Husband Can't Help
Now she has to have one daily. At times it appeared that the supply of blood donors would be exhausted. The one person above all who wanted to give his blood for her—her husband Earl—could not. His blood was the wrong type. Thus, day after day he has called on friends. But only one or two out of five or six would have the right type of blood.

Finally, when it seemed that he just could not find another donor, when he had called on every friend he knew, one of his neighbors suggested that he call a St. Louis paper. The editor of the paper ran a short story telling of Mrs. Owens' plight. By the time the early editions were off, the hospital was swamped with volunteers.

Doctors are agreed that the trouble is largely caused by Mrs. Owens' pregnancy. If they can keep her alive until the baby is old enough for a Caesarian operation then they are hopeful that not only will they save Mrs. Owens, but also the baby.

With a plentiful supply of blood donors, Mrs. Owens' chances of pulling through are much brighter, say the physicians. With every transfusion her blood is getting better, the bleeding is just a little less each day. And each day of life means that one of the most unusual fights against death has a good chance of terminating in victory.

ANOTHER ARMY TO ENTER CAMP

Seventh Corps Maneuvers to Start in Mississippi Area in August

OMAHA (UP)—A major section of the armed forces of the United States west of the Mississippi River will participate in the 7th Army Corps Area maneuvers in August.

Approximately 27,000 officers and men of the regular army, national guard and organized reserve of eight states will participate. It is planned to make the maneuvers as near like actual war conditions as possible.

The most modern equipment will be mobilized to give the various units a better understanding of their use in modern warfare.

Concentration of troops of Minnesota, Iowa and North and South Dakota will take place at Camp Ripley, Minn., while the southern half of the corps area, including Nebraska, Kansas, Missouri and Arkansas will be assembled at Fort Riley, Kan.

Troop movements in preparation for simulated warfare for the Camp Ripley phase will start Aug. 8, while those for the Fort Riley maneuver will begin Aug. 15.

These extension maneuvers are part of mobilization and training

Empire-builders, he asserted, have brought Japan to the verge of bankruptcy.

"It obviously would be easier," Yakhontoff said, "for Japan to continue an aggressive policy southward, where China is not prepared for serious resistance."

For the time being, Yakhontoff declared, American-Japanese trade is merely complementary. The chief Japanese imports from the United States are cotton and oil, both basic war materials. Japan is replacing American cotton purchases by increased purchases from Great Britain and by encouraging cotton cultivation in China, while at the same time trying to develop a local oil industry. As a consequence, Yakhontoff said, this constantly decreasing complementary trade between the United States and Japan is becoming less and less a guarantee against a crisis.

of the 4th Army, commanded by Major-Gen. George S. Simonds, San Francisco. As the 4th Army also includes the 9th Corps Area, the combined maneuvers will involve the troops of the major portion of the country west of the Mississippi.

The mobilization of the 4th Army is part of War department plans to put into the field each year one of the four great armies into which the military forces of the nation are divided. The objective is the actual field training of officers and troops in the complex problems arising in modern warfare.

Major-Gen. Stanley H. Ford is commander of the 7th Corps Area and will have charge of the strategic plan for the combined maneuvers.

WHY PAVE STREETS WITH CONCRETE?

here's why —

- Every street demands a gritty, non-skid surface for the protection of motorists and pedestrians.
- At night you need a pavement with high visibility.
- Safety also calls for a pavement that is free from chuck holes, ruts and bumps ... and stays that way with minimum maintenance.
- You want a pavement that drains quickly ... that is easily cleaned and stays clean ... no depressions to catch dirt.
- You want a pavement that makes the whole neighborhood look modern, prosperous, attractive.

Concrete ... and only concrete ... completely meets all of these specifications.

Yakhtontoff said that while it is customary to assert that American interests in Asia are insignificant, nevertheless it is not so much investments there but trade possibilities that count.

"If the entire Asiatic trade of the United States in 1914 did not exceed some $125,000,000, it almost reached $2,000,000,000 in 1928. It is not only natural therefore, that with the passing of the depression to believe that it will develop on even a larger scale than before."

Soviet Tension Seen Eased—Yakhtontoff insisted that Soviet-Japanese tension has been eased by at least two developments. The first is that the Soviet, having lost hope of an amicable solution of the outstanding problems so long as Japan is controlled by militarists, has fortified its borders and concentrated on the eastern frontier a large army, well equipped and highly mechanized with a formidable air force.

The second development, he said, is the acute internal crisis through which Japan is passing.

Approximately 27,000 officers and men of the regular army, national guard and organized reserve of eight states will participate. It is planned to make the maneuvers as near like actual war conditions as possible.

The most modern equipment will be mobilized to give the various units a better understanding of their use in modern warfare.

Concentration of troops of Minnesota, Iowa and North and South Dakota will take place at Camp Ripley, Minn., while the southern half of the corps area, including Nebraska, Kansas, Missouri and Arkansas will be assembled at Fort Riley, Kan.

Troop movements in preparation for simulated warfare for the Camp Ripley phase will start Aug. 8, while those for the Fort Riley maneuver will begin Aug. 15.

These extension maneuvers are part of mobilization and training

Empire-builders, he asserted, have brought Japan to the verge of bankruptcy.

"It obviously would be easier," Yakhtontoff said, "for Japan to continue an aggressive policy southward, where China is not prepared for serious resistance."

For the time being, Yakhtontoff declared, American-Japanese trade is merely complementary. The chief Japanese imports from the United States are cotton and oil, both basic war materials. Japan is replacing American cotton purchases by increased purchases from Great Britain and by encouraging cotton cultivation in China, while at the same time trying to develop a local oil industry. As a consequence, Yakhtontoff said, this constantly decreasing complementary trade between the United States and Japan is becoming less and less a guarantee against a crisis.

of the 4th Army, commanded by Major-Gen. George S. Simonds, San Francisco. As the 4th Army also includes the 9th Corps Area, the combined maneuvers will involve the troops of the major portion of the country west of the Mississippi.

The mobilization of the 4th Army is part of War department plans to put into the field each year one of the four great armies into which the military forces of the nation are divided. The objective is the actual field training of officers and troops in the complex problems arising in modern warfare.

Major-Gen. Stanley H. Ford is commander of the 7th Corps Area and will have charge of the strategic plan for the combined maneuvers.

STREETS SAFER THAN HOMES

ST. PAUL (UP)—Statement on St. Paul's death list indicates home accidents are responsible for twice as many deaths here as traffic accidents. Last year 153 persons died in Ramsey county as result of accidents in and around the home. During the same period, 82 died in traffic mishaps.

WHY PAVE STREETS WITH CONCRETE?

here's why —

- 1 Every street demands a gritty, non-skid surface for the protection of motorists and pedestrians.
- 2 At night you need a pavement with high visibility.
- 3 Safety also calls for a pavement that is free from chuck holes, ruts and bumps . . . and stays that way with minimum maintenance.
- 4 You want a pavement that drains quickly . . . that is easily cleaned and stays clean . . . no depressions to catch dirt.
- 5 You want a pavement that makes the whole neighborhood look modern, prosperous, attractive.

Concrete . . . and only concrete . . . completely meets all of these specifications.

PEST AGAINST PEST
THE saying, "Set a thief to catch a thief," may have a curious variant. Set a pest to catch a pest.

Entomologists are using Amazon flies to destroy the sugar cane borer. Several thousand of the flies have been turned loose in Puerto Rico, where the borer has been doing great damage. The fly deposits a small living maggot near the borer's hole in the cane stalk. The maggot immediately searches out the borer, pierces its outer cover and begins to feed on it.

Amazon flies were first used for this purpose in British Guinea. It was an expensive business, at first, but proved worth while because it saved the sugar crop.

There is another instance of pest destroying pest. It is said that chiggers in the West are turning from human victims to grasshoppers. It is death for the hoppers.
Similarly a very small parasite has been found which lays its egg only in the egg-sac of the black widow spider, where the parasite's larvae proceed to destroy young spiders. Some one is now cultivating these insects to increase their numbers in an effort to combat the deadly spiders.

There is a little risk that man will plunge ahead too far in assisting these private wars in Nature, ending one evil but setting up a new one. Perhaps that can be guarded against, however. It is reassuring, anyway, to find that many insects hitherto considered wholly useless are really allies of man.

RIGHT-HANDEDNESS
MOTHER NATURE knows best. At least, psychologists believe that right-handedness has existed in human beings since prehistoric times because it is right. Even the more primitive mammals show a preference for working with their right paws.
Dull and backward rats are more often left-pawed. An anthropologist is said to have found evidence in skulls that the first known Londoner and the most primitive ape man were predominantly right-handed.
The great apes "show a slight preference for using their right hands."

Right-handedness seems to have the great advantage of natural disposition of the body. The center of gravity of the body is slightly on that side, while several of the more vulnerable organs are on the left. In a right-handed individual they are kept further out of harm's way.

Along with these discoveries of the rightness of right-handedness goes the popular belief that the left-handed person is backward in many ways. But to make the discussion interesting, it might be pointed out that Leonardo da Vinci was left-handed and Rudyard Kipling was able to

HOPKINS TURNED DOWN JOB

WASHINGTON — That $75,000-a-year job which has been kicking around the Capital for a couple of months has been turned down again, this time by Harry Hopkins.
The $75,000 is the annual salary offered by the liquor distillers of America for a "czar" for their industry. Hopkins was almost persuaded to leave his WPA job and become head of the Distilled Spirits Institute. This is the office left vacant by the death of W. Forbes Morgan, uncle of Mrs.
Roosevelt.

Harry turned down the job, but he did it a little reluctantly. He consulted first with the President. The latter told him flatly to reject it, indicating that he would make it up to Harry in the future.

This probably means that when the new Cabinet post for Social Welfare is created by the government reorganization bill, Harry Hopkins will get the job.

Most rueful person in Washington recently has been Mrs. Hopkins. She hated to see Harry lose that $75,000.

NOTE—A salary of $75,000 usually does not go begging, but the whiskey distillers certainly have had a tough time getting someone to take their cash. Those who have turned it down include Jim Farley, Charles Michelson and General Johnson.

EARHART RESCUE

There has been a little grumbling in the Navy Department over the tremendous cost of the rescue efforts for Amelia Earhart.

This is chiefly because Navy aviators had repeatedly warned Miss Earhart regarding the risks she was taking in her long overseas hops, and asked her not to take them.

Cost of the Navy's rescue work was $250,000 a day. Moreover, quite a few naval aviators risked their lives in their search flights.

The Earhart flight also has put the Commerce Department in a somewhat embarrassing hole, because Department officials had forced the French Government to call off its transatlantic air race for fear exactly the same thing would happen to one of the contestants as did actually happen to Miss Earhart.

The French Government at first refused, following which the Commerce Department threatened to deny taking-off privileges to the air race contestants. It was explained that any crash at sea would create a bad public impression and hurt the new transatlantic air service opened this summer.

But the Department granted a license and all privileges to Miss Earhart.

It's fine to talk of the Golden Mean and the Middle Way but the fellow in the mid-

The end is near when the dumb cry,

a news dispatch out of Washington that Warner Baxter, Gary Cooper and George Raft, cinema stars, all drew salaries in excess of $200,000 in 1936.
Did then wonder why I had not been born to the stage instead of with a consuming desire to be a newspaperman. I would appreciate their salaries, but would not trade professions with any one of them.

Also saw in the prints that State Representative Gus Kasch, of Akron, has been "inspired"
once more and would make John L. Lewis president of the United States. How could a man with such eyebrows ever women had a voice? Maybe Kasch believes that since he was elected to office that almost anything can happen, and does.

Plastic Surgeon's Part in Beautifying Face

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.
AN IMPORTANT development in modern medicine is plastic surgery. Those surgeons who make a specialty of this are real beauty operators. Naturally the face is the part of the body to which they pay most attention.

I suppose that about half the babies born into the world have one or more little red marks on the face. Indeed, they are commonly called birthmarks. These worry the mother, especially if it is a girl baby. But in almost every instance they fade and disappear by the age of five or six. They are due to the overdevelopment of the tiny blood vessels just under the surface of the skin. Sometimes they are large and of a deep red or purplish color—port wine marks. These will not disappear and should be removed, particularly if they show a tendency to grow. They may reach large proportions, and then their destruction leaves a defect which will require skin grafting to fill in.

Moles which are found on the baby's face are of a wide variety.
They are forms of tumors and are due to an overgrowth of the skin structures. They may be flat, elevated, warty or hairy. Although they are regarded as marks of beauty in Oriental countries, the American mother is not easily reconciled to them. They can be removed easily in most cases by electrolysis or surgery.

Scars Surgically Treated Scars are also in the field of the plastic surgeon. Most scars on the face in infancy come from burns and most of them from scalding water. Prevention is, therefore, the first point to emphasize. Little

Love is for Tomorrow
By VIRGINIA SCALLON

CHAPTER 47
MARCIA couldn't believe her own eyes, as she saw the rapid turn of events at the Trocadero.
Full of concern over Gary, she likewise was worried about Sandy.
He seemed in a sort of stupor as the officer took him roughly in hand. Compassionately she went to Sandy's side.
"You mustn't worry, Sandy," she said to him, then turned to the policeman. "Let him alone! Can't you see it was an accident? He thought he was protecting—"
"Keep quiet, Marcia!" Sandy brushed aside her sympathetic interference. "No use getting involved any further in this. It looks like it's going to be a nasty mess before we're through. Better keep your pretty skirts clear of it."
Disregarding the bitterness in his voice, she turned again to the officer. "Do something. You can't arrest this man. I won't have it!"
Her voice rose to a high pitch in the stress of the emergency.
"Too bad, lady. I'd like to oblige you, but as far as I can see this man is guilty of assault and battery with intention of doing bodily harm. I've got to hold him. You'd better get to your friend over there, he might need you."

Marcia looked longingly at Sandy, but the man refused to meet her gaze. "Yes, get to your friend. He needs you," he said.
"You can't do anything more for me." With a nod to the policeman he indicated he was willing to go with him quietly. Anything to get away from this mob of semi-hysterical women, bustling waiters, and the still form of the man on the couch.
How different this evening was from the one Sandy had planned so hopefully that afternoon! Then, filled with his new determination to rush Marcia off her feet, he had been content to let her feel, he had her promise of marriage before another day dawned. In the hectic confusion that had followed his headstrong actions, since he found her with Gary he had no opportunity—not any great desire—to tell the girl of his changed ideas. As Marcia saw him rushed out the door, she did not know how unselfish and undemanding his love for her had grown. Instead, she thought of him as being still involved with the grasping Paula and now this new disgrace!
She heard the scream of the police car as they hurried him away, and turned desperately to Gary.

"Gary, you can't let go, you can't! Open your eyes and talk to me; can't you see what's happened?" She was leaning over him, looking for some sign of life in the placid face. Suddenly she put her hands on his shoulders, shook him gently. "Don't you hear me, Gary—!"
Sympathetic hands drew her away from the couch as a doctor said suddenly, "I think we can move him now. Better rush him to the Emergency hospital."

The cafe manager had tried desperately to cover up the unfortunate affair, and the orchestra was blaring loudly to keep the guests' minds from the incident being enacted under their very noses.
He breathed a deep sigh of relief when the ambulance drew to the curb, and the inert figure of Gary was put within it. He shuddered to think of what the papers would print as they smacked their lips over another "Hollywood bravura!"
Marcia climbed into the ambulance, too dumbly watching the man on the stretcher. "He can't die!" she said over and over to herself, not realizing that she was concerned primarily with the effect on Sandy. She shuddered when she heard one of the attendants say something about "manslaughter for that poor cuss if the fellow here doesn't pull through!" She was on her knees in a second, again pleading with the unconscious Gary.

"Won't do you any good,
ma'am," the doctor told her.
"We'll have to wait till we get to the hospital and operate. You'd better keep hold of yourself. Is there anyone you can call?"
The girl shook her head. Gary lived at the University club, and she didn't know of any relatives except Marie.
"Do you think it's that serious?"
She begged, hoping they would reassure her. "He has a cousin in Santa Cruz."

Her world crashed about her as the doctor said seriously, "Yes, I think you'd better call her."
At the hospital, white-clad attendants rushed Gary away from her, and Marcia walked blindly to the telephone booth. A hurried call brought Marie to the other end of the wire, and brokenly she told her the news. She felt a flood of relief when Marie said calmly,
"I'll come right down. What hospital is it? And keep your head, my dear. It takes an awful lot to get a good man like Gary down."

Marcia sat in the waiting room, and watched the minutes tick slowly. She had been there for almost two hours, when the head nurse came to her side. "Come on, young lady. I'm going to put you to bed. They've operated on Mr. Warren now; but we won't know for several hours how he will rally."
The girl was grateful for the placid tones of the woman. How could she get so immersed in suffering, she wondered as she allowed herself to be led to a narrow bed in an empty room? They gave her a sedative that sent her into a troubled sleep, her dreams peopled by a thousand Sandys being pursued and persecuted by burly police.
Sandy himself was experiencing in fact what was merely a hazy nightmare to Marcia. Taken to headquarters he was hastily booked for assault and battery, and possible manslaughter, and held without bond. Mike Borst had rushed down to the station and reached it almost as soon as his friend. Furiously, he addressed the captain, "Cap, you can't do a thing like this. Knight here thought he was defending a lady; it was just an unfortunate accident, that's all. You can always find him at—"

"We'll keep him right here!
where we won't have to bother to look for him," the captain replied cautiously. "If this Warren dies, he'll face a pretty serious charge.
The public has had just about enough of these society brawls;
somebody is due to take the rap for them."
Furiously, Mike began to plead his friend's cause but the officer shook his head steadily. Finally he lost patience. "You're wasting your breath. We've got a duty to do, and we're going to do it regardless of you or anything you can say. Now get out!"
Sandy was being ushered out between two guards, and Mike watched him fully. Loyal, he shouted, "Keep your chin up, Sandy. We'll see you through this. I'll get a lawyer and have you out of here in a jigger!"
Mike took a taxi to the hospital first, to ascertain the seriousness of Warren's injury. What he learned at the reception desk did not ease his anxiety, and he went solemnly to the phone. He routed Lawrence Crocker, an attorney, out of bed and told him the predicament in which Sandy was involved. Crocker advised him to wait until morning, when Warren might have regained consciousness sufficiently to exonerate Sandy.
"But if he doesn't? If he should die?"
"Then you couldn't get him out anyway, so you might as well go home and get a good night's sleep," the attorney said laconically.
"We'll do all we can in the morning; your friend will be well taken care of where he is."

"Yeah, hot and cold running sweat," Mike said in exasperation, "and a choice room overlooking the city dump. Swell prospect!"
Disgustedly, he hung up the phone and walked out of the booth. As an afterthought he stopped at the desk to inquire about Marcia, leaving his phone number and a message to the effect that she could depend on him to be of any service. With characteristic abandon, he forgot about the work on his new job that was due to start tomorrow; he felt his sincerest efforts would be demanded to see Sandy through a difficult situation.

PEST AGAINST PEST

THE saying, "Set a thief to catch a thief," may have a curious variant. Set a pest to catch a pest.

Entomologists are using Amazon flies to destroy the sugar cane borer. Several thousand of the flies have been turned loose in Puerto Rico, where the borer has been doing great damage. The fly deposits a small living maggot near the borer's hole in the cane stalk. The maggot immediately searches out the borer, pierces its outer cover and begins to feed on it.

Amazon flies were first used for this purpose in British Guinea. It was an expensive business, at first, but proved worth while because it saved the sugar crop.

There is another instance of pest destroying pest. It is said that chiggers in the West are turning from human victims to grasshoppers. It is death for the hoppers. Similarly a very small parasite has been found which lays its egg only in the egg-sac of the black widow spider, where the parasite's larvae proceed to destroy young spiders. Some one is now cultivating these insects to increase their numbers in an effort to combat the deadly spiders.

There is a little risk that man will plunge ahead too far in assisting these private wars in Nature, ending one evil but setting up a new one. Perhaps that can be guarded against, however. It is reassuring, anyway, to find that many insects hitherto considered wholly useless are really allies of man.

RIGHT-HANDEDNESS

MOTHER NATURE knows best. At least, psychologists believe that right-handedness has existed in human beings since prehistoric times because it is right. Even the more primitive mammals show a preference for working with their right paws. Dull and backward rats are more often left-pawed. An anthropologist is said to have found evidence in skulls that the first known Londoner and the most primitive ape man were predominantly right-handed. The great apes "show a slight preference for using their right hands."

Right-handedness seems to have the great advantage of natural disposition of the body. The center of gravity of the body is slightly on that side, while several of the more vulnerable organs are on the left. In a right-handed individual they are kept further out of harm's way.

Along with these discoveries of the rightness of right-handedness goes the popular belief that the left-handed person is backward in many ways. But to make the discussion interesting, it might be pointed out that Leonardo da Vinci was left-handed and Rudyard Kipling was able to

HOPKINS TURNED DOWN JOB

WASHINGTON — That $75,000-a-year job which has been kicking around the Capital for a couple of months has been turned down again, this time by Harry Hopkins.

The $75,000 is the annual salary offered by the liquor distillers of America for a "czar" for their industry. Hopkins was almost persuaded to leave his WPA job and become head of the Distilled Spirits Institute. This is the office left vacant by the death of W. Forbes Morgan, uncle of Mrs. Roosevelt.

Harry turned down the job, but he did it a little reluctantly. He consulted first with the President. The latter told him flatly to reject it, indicating that he would make it up to Harry in the future.

This probably means that when the new Cabinet post for Social Welfare is created by the government reorganization bill, Harry Hopkins will get the job.

Most rueful person in Washington recently has been Mrs. Hopkins. She hated to see Harry lose that $75,000.

NOTE—A salary of $75,000 usually does not go begging, but the whiskey distillers certainly have had a tough time getting someone to take their cash. Those who have turned it down include Jim Farley, Charles Michelson and General Johnson.

EARHART RESCUE

There has been a little grumbling in the Navy Department over the tremendous cost of the rescue efforts for Amelia Earhart.

This is chiefly because Navy aviators had repeatedly warned Miss Earhart regarding the risks she was taking in her long oversea hops, and asked her not to take them.

Cost of the Navy's rescue work was $250,000 a day. Moreover, quite a few naval aviators risked their lives in their search flights.

The Earhart flight also has put the Commerce Department in a somewhat embarrassing hole, because Department officials had forced the French Government to call off its transatlantic air race for fear exactly the same thing would happen to one of the contestants as did actually happen to Miss Earhart.

The French Government at first refused, following which the Commerce Department threatened to deny taking-off privileges to the air race contestants. It was explained that any crash at sea would create a bad public impression and hurt the new transatlantic air service opened this summer.

But the Department granted a license and all privileges to Miss Earhart.

It's fine to talk of the Golden Mean and the Middle Way but the fellow in the middle of the political road is going to be cussed by both sides.

The end is near when the dumb cry, "Let's go" and the smart merely wail: "Oh, what's to become of us?"

Plastic Surgeon's Part in Beautifying Face

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

AN IMPORTANT development in modern medicine is plastic surgery. Those surgeons who make a specialty of this are real beauty operators. Naturally the face is the part of the body to which they pay most attention.

I suppose that about half the babies born into the world have one or more little red marks on the face. Indeed they are commonly called birthmarks. These worry the mother, especially if it is a girl baby. But in almost every instance they fade and disappear by the age of five or six.

They are due to the overdevelopment of the tiny blood vessels just under the surface of the skin. Sometimes they are larger and of a deep red or purplish color—port wine marks. These will not disappear and should be removed, particularly if they show a tendency to grow. They may reach large proportions, and then their destruction leaves a defect which will require skin grafting to fill in.

Moles which are found on the baby's face are of a wide variety. They are forms of tumors and are due to an overgrowth of the skin structure. They may be flat, elevated, warty or hairy. Although they are regarded as marks of beauty in Oriental countries, the American mother is not easily reconciled to them. They can be removed easily in most cases by electrolysis or surgery.

Scars Surgically Treated
Scars are also in the field of the plastic surgeon. Most scars on the face in infancy come from burns and most of them from scalding water. Prevention is, therefore, the first point to emphasize. Little children playing in the kitchen upset a tea kettle or a pan of boiling water on the stove that is too high for them to lift—statistics show this is the one most frequent cause of facial burns in early life. When, in spite of eternal vigilance, it has happened, the modern plastic surgeon can be called upon with perfect confidence that he will be able to remove the scar and restore the face to a very good appearance of normal.

Scars which are themselves small may be so placed that they produce a deformity by traction on the eyelids, mouth or nose. These should be removed, because if left they will prevent proper development of the organ involved.

Of accidents to the face in infancy, fractured nose is the most common. First attempts at walking, with subsequent falls, and the games and fights of later childhood, all endanger particularly the nose.

Any accident with considerable nosebleed may be a fractured nose, and it is best to assume a fracture of some of these delicate bones until it is proved otherwise.

There is a piece of gossip that is frequently passed on to young parents that the bones of the nose should be left alone until maturity.

This is a fallacy, and fractured or deformed noses should be corrected in childhood, otherwise they will lead to loss of normal function and maldevelopment.

CHAPTER 47
MARCIA couldn't believe her own eyes, as she saw the rapid turn of events at the Trocadero. Full of concern over Gary, she likewise was worried about Sandy. He seemed in a sort of stupor as the officer took him roughly in hand. Compassionately she went to Sandy's side.

"You mustn't worry, Sandy," she said to him, then turned to the policeman. "Let him alone! Can't you see it was an accident? He thought he was protecting—"

"Keep quiet, Marcia!" Sandy brushed aside her sympathetic efforts to help. "No use getting involved any further in this. It looks like it's going to be a nasty mess before we're through. Better keep your pretty skirts clear of it."

Regarding the bitterness in his voice, she turned again to the officer. "Do something. You can't arrest this man. I won't have it!" Her voice rose to a high pitch in the stress of the emergency.

"Too bad, lady. I'd like to oblige you, but as far as I can see this man is guilty of assault and battery with intention of doing bodily harm. I've got to hold him. You'd better get to your friend over there, he might need you."

Marcia looked longingly at Sandy, but the man refused to meet her gaze. "Yes, get to your friend. He needs you," he said. "You can't do anything—more for me." With a nod to the policeman he indicated he was willing to go with him quietly. Anything to get away from this mob of semi-hysterical women, bustling waiters, and the still form of the man on the couch.

How different this evening was from the one Sandy had planned so hopefully that afternoon! Then, filled with his new determination to rush Marcia off her feet, he had been confident that he could win her promise of marriage before another day dawned. In the hectic confusion that had followed his headstrong actions, since he found her with Gary he had no opportunity—nor any great desire—to tell the girl of his changed ideas.

As Marcia saw him rushed out the door, she did not know how unselfish and undemanding his love for her had grown. Instead, she thought of him as being still involved with the grasping Paula.

... and now this new disgrace! She heard the scream of the police car as they hurried him away, and turned desperately to Gary.

"Gary, you can't let go, you can't! Open your eyes and talk to me; can't you see what's happened?" She was leaning over him, looking for some sign of life in the placid face. Suddenly she put her hands on his shoulders, shook him gently. "Don't you hear me, Gary—!"

Sympathetic hands drew her away from the couch as a doctor said suddenly, "I think we can move him now. Better rush him to the Emergency hospital."

The cafe manager had tried desperately to cover up the unfortunate affair, and the orchestra was blaring loudly to keep the guests' minds from the incident. Being enacted under their very noses, he breathed a deep sigh of relief when the ambulance drew to the curb, and the inert figure of Gary was put within it. He shuddered to think of what the papers would print as they smacked their lips over another "Hollywood brawl!"

Marcia climbed into the ambulance, too, dumbly watching the man on the stretcher. "He can't die!" she said over and over to herself, not realizing that she was concerned primarily with the effect on Sandy. She shuddered when she heard one of the attendants say something about "manslaughter for that poor cuss if the fellow here doesn't pull through." She was on her knees in a second, again pleading with the unconscious Gary.

"Won't do you any good, ma'am," the doctor told her. "We'll have to wait till we get to the hospital and operate. You'd better keep hold of yourself. Is there anyone you can call?"

The girl shook her head. Gary lived at the University club, and she didn't know of any relatives except Marie.

"Do you think it's that serious?" she begged, hoping they would reassure her. "He has a cousin in Santa Cruz."

Her word crashed about her as the doctor said seriously, "Yes, I think you'd better call her."

At the hospital, white-clad attendants rushed Gary away from her, and Marcia walked blindly to the telephone booth. A hurried call brought Marie to the other end of the wire, and brokenly she told her the news. She felt a flood of relief when Marie said calmly, "I'll come right down. What hospital is it? And keep your head, my dear. It takes an awful lot to get a good man like Gary down."

Marcia sat in the waiting room, and watched the minutes tick off slowly. She had been there for almost two hours, when the head nurse came to her side. "Come on, young lady. I'm going to put you to bed. They've operated on Mr. Warren now; but we won't know for several hours how he will rally."

Mike took a taxi to the hospital first, to ascertain the seriousness of Warren's injury. What he learned at the reception desk did not ease his anxiety, and he went solemnly to the phone. He called Lawrence Crocker, an attorney, out of bed and told him the predicament in which Sandy was involved. Crocker advised him to wait until morning, when Warren might have regained consciousness sufficiently to exonerate Sandy.

"But if he doesn't? If he should die?"

"Then you couldn't get him out anyway, so you might as well go home and get a good night's sleep," Mike said. "We'll do all we can in the morning; your friend will be well taken care of where he is."

"Yeah, hot and cold running sweat," Mike said in exasperation, "and a choice room overlooking the city dump. Swell prospect!"

Mabel A. Young Is Bride Of William C. Shepard

Ceremony Conducted in Sandusky on Wednesday

Simplicity marked the wedding of Mabel Anne Young, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Young, of E. Main street, and Mr. William Clark Shepard, of Cleveland, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Shepard, of Shaker Heights, which took place Wednesday at high noon.

The ceremony was performed in the rectory of the First Episcopal church, of Sandusky, by the Rev. W. Gates Young, in the presence of the immediate families and a few close friends.

Miss Young chose for her wedding a gown of white chiffon made on tailored lines with trimmings of frosty white velvet. She had a corsage of white gardenias pinned at her shoulder. She wore a white satin turban with halo veil of white tulle and used white accessories.

Mrs. Blanche Mutschman, sister of the bride, was her matron of honor. Her frock was of shell pink marquisette made on princess lines. With it she wore an open crown pink turban and sandals of pink, with aquatone lace gloves completing her costume.

Her bridesmaid, Miss Mary Nelson, of Cleveland, wore a frock of lemon yellow lace, with a large picture hat and white accessories. Both attendants wore shoulder corsages of white gardenias.

For his best man, Mr. Shepard chose his father, Mr. William Shepard, of Shaker Heights.

Miss Young is a graduate of Circleville high school, the White Cross hospital School of Nursing. She has been night supervisor of Huron Road hospital, of East Cleveland.

Mr. Shepard attended Princeton university and is a graduate of Case School of Engineering, Cleveland. He is associated in business in Cleveland with his father.

Following the ceremony, a wedding dinner was served at the Hotel Sloane, Sandusky, for the bride party and guests.

During the afternoon, Mr. and Mrs. Shepard left for a wedding trip through the West. They will spend several weeks on a ranch near Big Timber, Montana, and will make their home in Cleveland on their return.

BIRDS WIN ALL-STAR CONTEST AND PULL FARTHER AHEAD IN A. A. RACE

DOUBLE VICTORY OVER LOUISVILLE AIDS COLUMBUS

Macon and Potter on Hill in Two Games; Brews Bump Millers

TOLEDO NEXT ON LIST

Milwaukee Clubs Apple All Over Ball Lot

By UNITED PRESS

Columbus pulled further ahead in the American association race by defeating Louisville, 8-3, 7-6 in both games of a doubleheader last night while second place Toledo was idle.

The victories over Louisville stretched to 21 of their last 25 games the Columbus winning streak and Columbus will stage the All-Star game on July 27.

Maxie Macon was the winning pitcher in the opener and Nel Potter was credited with the win in the nightcap. Porter relieved Lanier, who in turn had relieved Cooper. Siebert of Columbus hit a homerun.

Milwaukee defeated Minneapolis 13-7. It was the seventh defeat in eight starts for the Millers.

Storti of Milwaukee hit his seventh home run in five days. Brenzel hit two circuit blows. The barrage of homers and three triples marked the Milwaukee attack on Taucher, Pettit, Grabowski and Baker. Milnar was winning pitcher.

The game was called at the end of the first half of the eighth inning to enable Minneapolis to catch a train.

Indianapolis at Toledo was postponed because of rain and Kansas City and St. Paul were idle.

Newark's Bears Own Many Stellar Rookies

BUFFALO, N. Y., July 15, (UP)—The 1937 International League baseball campaign promises to produce a bumper crop of rookies for the majors next season.

Veteran baseball observers believe the 1938 rookie crop will surpass, both in number and ability, the International League graduates who managed to remain in the "big time" this season. In the latter group are such performers as Cliff Melton, New York Giant southpaw; Bob Weiland, the St. Louis Cardinal left-hander; Bill Chandler and Frank Mahoksy, New York Yankee pitchers; Lee Handley, Pittsburgh second baseman; Johnny Dickshot, Pittsburgh outfielder; Eddie Fletcher, Boston Bees first baseman; Johnny McCarthy, successor to Bill Terry as the first baseman for the New York Giants, and others.

Newark, the No. 1 farm club of the Yankees, not only is making a walkaway of the 1937 race, but has a dozen candidates for major league berths next spring. The Bears, with the season only half gone, held a lead of approximately 20 games over their nearest rival.

Yankees to Benefit

Heading the list of Newark graduates will be Jim Gordon, flashy second baseman who is slated to take the place of the ageing Tony Lazzeri of the Yankees; Atley Donald, who won his first 13 games as a Class AA pitcher; Babe Dalgren, whose hitting has improved to such an extent that he may be able to break into the Yankee lineup next season; and Buddy Rosar, a young hard hitting catcher.

There are many baseball observers who believe that the Newark club would be capable of giving the second division clubs in the American League a good struggle. Kemp Wicker, Joe Beggs, Vito Tamulis, pitchers; Bill Herschberger, catcher; Gleason, Keller and Seeds, outfielders and McQuinn, first baseman, also appear to be ready for major league berths.

Cards Prize Hopp

One of the most promising recruits in the circuit is Johnny Hopp, Rochester outfielder. The Cardinals are reported to have turned down a bid of $50,000 for the fleet, hard hitting outfielder. Other promising major league timber on the Red Wing club are Lou Scofield, outfielder; Al Cunningham and Jeulich, infielders; Krist and Klenke, pitchers.

The Buffalo Bisons, defending champions, are sure that their young outfielder, Mike McCormick, will be able to make the grade next season. He is one of the fastest men in the league and is developing into a powerful hitter.

Other players who are expected to get major league tryouts include Vandenberg and Lohmann, Baltimore pitchers; Wilburn and Powers, Baltimore infielders; Johnny Vander Meer, Syracuse pitcher; Joost and McCormick, Syracuse infielders; Bely and Davis, Toronto pitchers; Ross and Walsh, Toronto infielders; Petosky, Toronto outfielder; and Ben Cantwell, Jersey City pitcher.

NEW YORK, July 15.—(UP)—Both New York's major league teams, the Yankees and Giants were installed as the ones to beat — unless the other clubs want to sit by and witness a recurrence of last year's subway series.

The Yanks have been at the top of the American league since May 24 and steadily are drawing away from the opposition. The Giants won their way to the top perch in the senior loop yesterday, uprooting the Chicago Cubs who had held sway since June 15.

Putting together their longest winning streak in three years, the Yankees yesterday walloped the Detroit Tigers, 10-2, for their eighth consecutive victory. Red Ruffing, who scared Manager Joe McCarthy half to death by his long holdout siege last Spring, turned the Bengals back with but five hits to score his 11th victory. The loss dropped Detroit all the way from second to fourth place, and increased the Yankees' lead to six and one half games.

Regaining his early season mastery, Southpaw Carl Hubbell pitched the Giants into the lead with a four-hit 4-2 decision over the Pittsburgh challengers. It was the screwball king's 13th win of the year, and his fifth straight since the four losses that interrupted a 24-game winning streak over two seasons.

MRS. WEIL FAVORED

COLUMBUS, July 15.—(UP)—It was Mrs. Burt Weil against the field when 55 stars teed off at the Scioto Country club here Monday for the qualifying round of 18th annual Ohio Women's golf tournament, and today it was still the veteran Cincinnati against the pack as the meet moved into the semi-final round.

PICKAWAY CLUB GOLFERS ANNEX MATCH BY 34-23

John Jenkins Tallies 77 To Be Low Scorer In Washington C. H. Meet

EIGHT IN CLEAN SWEEP

Interesting Cards Prevail In Golf Contest

Pickaway Country Club golfers kept their competitive slate clean, Wednesday, when they defeated the Washington C. H. team 34 to 23 in a match on the local course.

John Jenkins, youthful sharpshooter, was low man on both teams with 40-37, 77, to win three points from Cornwall, who tallied an 81. Jenkins' 77 was the only below-80 score tallied. A six on No. 1 his first round hurt his chances for a lower score.

Circleville golfers won 11 out of 21 matches, tied two, and lost the others. Eight local men, namely Frank Barnhill, Claude Kraft, William Radcliff, Charles Glitt, C. T. Gilmore, John Mader, John Jenkins, and James Evans, scored clean sweeps of three points, while only one visitor was able to connect for three counters.

THE FANCIEST NAME
"GRAND COUP" is probably the fanciest name used on any of the many devices employed by declarers. The play itself is nowhere near as complex or difficult to understand, however, as some of the others. It consists merely of ruffing an otherwise good trick so that the lead can, at a vital later stage, be in the opposite hand for a killing play through the dangerous opponent, who otherwise could get a trump trick.

Monday's Problem

Dealer: North. North-South vulnerable.

North opened the bidding here with 1-Club, South bid 1-Heart, West 1-Spade, North 2-Clubs, South 2-Hearts, West 2-Spades, North 3-Hearts and South 4-Hearts.

West cashed his spade K and then switched to the club 9, which East won with the Ace and returned a club which West ruffed. In order to make his contract, it was now necessary for South to take the remainder of the tricks.

West figured the spade Ace would do no harm, as it would have to be ruffed and would not help the declarer. The heart Ace was cashed and disclosed that East held the three remaining trumps. The declarer still found a way to prevent East from winning a trump trick. Knowing East had one more club, a club was led to the J and the club K led, on which East discarded a diamond and South a spade. The heart J was covered by East's Q and won with the K. A diamond to the K brought forth another club, on which East discarded a diamond and South ruffed. A diamond to the Ace was followed by another club, on which East was forced to play one of his trumps, so that South captured the remaining tricks.

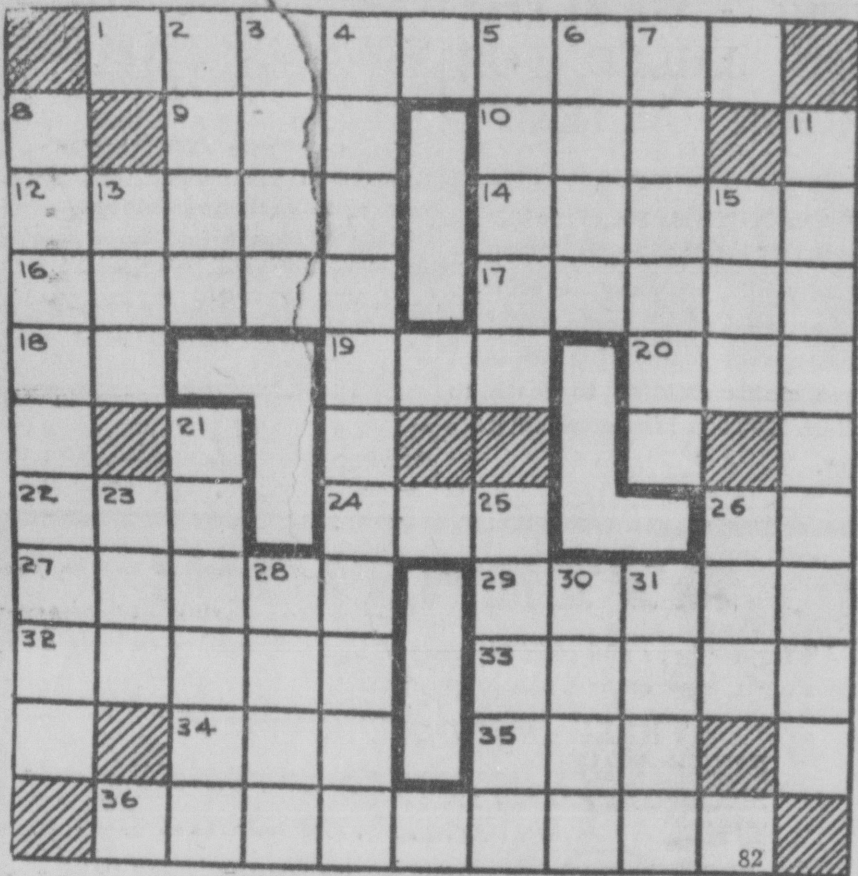

(Dealer: West. North-South vulnerable.)

What play by South will enable him to make 4-Hearts after repeated leads of clubs?

Baiky household appliances may only need a little oil. Keep one can of good machine oil in the basement, one on the lower floor of the house and one upstairs and apply as needed.

For a quick and tasty dish, remove centers from finger rolls, toast them, spread with butter. Fill each cavity with any creamed vegetable or fish, chicken, etc., sprinkle with cheese and broil for about one minute.

GOVERNMENT BUYS 870 ADDITIONAL ACRES FOR RESETTLEMENT PROGRAM

CHECK FOR HUGE AMOUNT PAID TO CHILlicotheans

W. D. Heiskell Reports Sale of Five Farm Properties During Last Week

C. L. BOSWORTH IS BUYER

Columbus Man Takes Over Will List Land

Purchase of 870 additional acres of fine southcentral Ohio farm land was completed Wednesday by the Rural Resettlement administration. The land, sold by W. D. Heiskell, of Williamsport, for John and Gordon Phillips, of Chillicothe, brought approximately $74,000. It lies between Austin and Good Hope, Ross county.

Deeds were filed in Ross county recorder's office, Wednesday, and the check from the government was given the previous owners by Ronald Miller, of Zanesville, representing the government.

The Rural Resettlement administration will construct 14 or 15 units of 60 acres each. Mr. Heiskell declared. The land is considered very good for farming purposes.

Other real estate deals announced by the Williamsport realtor include:

The 196-acre Will List farm in Washington township to Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Bosworth, Columbus.

The 96-acre Nellie Baker farm, Morrow township, to Alvin Tobin, near Five Points.

The 170-acre farm of Harry L. Morris, north of Derby, to the Stansbury brothers, Walnut township.

The C. C. Crabbe farm of 308 acres, near London, to L. M. Roudsbusch, Cincinnati.

The Hollenbeck farm of 212 acres in Ross county to James Clark, of near London, formerly of Williamsport community.

GOVERNOR EYES ROBINSON'S JOB IN U. S. SENATE

WASHINGTON, July 15—(UP)—Gov. Carl E. Bailey of Arkansas today stood high in the list of possible successors to the late Sen. Joseph T. Robinson.

Bailey, in Little Rock, made no announcement as to how he plans to fill the vacancy caused by the death of the senate majority leader, but previously he had indicated that he would desire the post if Robinson were appointed a justice of the supreme court.

Belief that the governor might succeed Robinson centered chiefly in the fact that he named a majority of the Arkansas Democratic central committee, which has power to designate the party's candidate in a special election. Democratic nomination is tantamount to election in Arkansas.

Others prominently mentioned for the senate post included Lieut. Gov. Robert Bailey, who is not related to the governor; Vincent M. Miles, member of the Federal Social Security board; Fred Isrig, U. S. district attorney; Rep. William J. Driver; Attorney General Jack Holt; Rep. John E. Miller; Rep. Claude A. Fuller; Rep. John McClellan and Homer Atkins, Arkansas internal revenue commissioner.

The Tientsin-Peiping area from Manchukuo and Korea. Gen. Itakuro Inouye, as head of the Imperial Reservists' Association, instructed the 3,000,000 veterans to be ready to form a second line of national defense.

All these men are subject to call from the war ministry at any moment, either for Chinese or home service. They have had two years' active military training and now are in one of the classes of reserves—first line, second line home defense.

The provincial or prefectural governors, summoned in emergency conference from all over the country, heard guarded speeches by cabinet ministers in which the desire for peace was emphasized but the determination to deal firmly to uphold Japanese interests and prestige was made quite clear.

National solidarity in face of what might be a major emergency was the keynote of the meeting.

Many Warships Moved

First Vice Admiral Mitsumasa Yonai, navy minister, announced: "In order to safeguard Japanese nationals and protect their interests the navy is dispatching a number of warship units to the China and Manchukuo coasts. They will patrol the coast lines and engage in policing duties."

(The warships already have begun to arrive. As reported yesterday two Japanese destroyers and two Manchukuan gunboats arrived at Tangku, on the coast near Peiping.—Ed.)

NATIONAL GUARD OFFICERS TO GET POSTS FOR LIFE

COLUMBUS, July 15—(UP)—Three Ohio National Guard officers may hold their state positions for life, under a new law effective today.

If they are reappointed by Governor Davey, Adj. Gen. Emil F. Marx, Lt. Col. L. B. Brown, Assistant Adj. General, and Assistant Quartermaster General J. A. Blount will hold their positions until they reach the retirement age of 64.

Adj. Gen. Marx receives a salary of $7,500 a year. The other two officers receive $6463 annually.

BUILDING PLANNED

COLUMBUS, July 15—(UP)—A $20,000 brick building will be constructed on the state fair grounds this fall.

Carl Gulick, 21, of York street, posted $200 bond in H. O. Evenden's court Wednesday to return Saturday at 8 p. m. for a hearing on a charge of reckless driving. Columbus Man Takes Over Will List Land

Purchase of 870 additional acres of fine southcentral Ohio farm land was completed Wednesday by the Rural Resettlement administration. The land, sold by W. D. Heiskell, of Williamsport, for John and Gordon Phillips, of Chillicothe, brought approximately $74,000. It lies between Austin and Good Hope, Ross county.

Deeds were filed in Ross county recorder's office, Wednesday, and the check from the government was given the previous owners by Ronald Miller, of Zanesville, representing the government.

The Rural Resettlement administration will construct 14 or 15 units of 60 acres each, Mr. Heiskell declared. The land is considered very good for farming purposes.

Other real estate deals announced by the Williamsport realtor include:

The 196-acre Will List farm in Washington township to Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Bosworth, Columbus.

The 96-acre Nellie Baker farm, Monroe township, to Alvin Toblin, near Five Points.
